CONGRESS MAY PASS LAWS TO HELP INDUSTRY

Financial Interests Expected to Carry Out Their Part of Program

President Discusses Ways to Make Credit Easier for Home Builders

Washington—(AP)—President Hoover's plan to ease the financial strain on the nation's banks moved swiftly today toward actual operation.

He was informed by Governor Harrison of the New York Federal Reserve bank that the proposed $500,000,000 credit corporation was expected to be incorporated within 48 hours and that details of the completed proposal would be laid before every clearing house and banking group in the country at once.

The plans contemplate a director for the institution from each of the twelve federal reserve districts. Its operations will be national and not regional in scope.

Meanwhile, it was disclosed the plan had been discussed by the president with a group of New York bankers last Sunday night at Secretary Mellon's apartment and that they agreed upon it then.

Washington—(AP)—With convocation of congress less than two months away, legislation that may be necessary to make operative the administration's program for business rejuvenation has the almost undivided attention of officials.

Concurrently, in its survey of the business situation, the administration is reaching toward its decision whether a tax increase will be asked of congress to meet the mounting treasury deficit.

Confidence prevails that private financial interests will carry through their part of the wide-spread program approved Tuesday night at a bi-partisan conference at the White House of political leaders in congress.

The income tax increase, the $500,000,000 agency to help dissolve frozen banking assets into trade channels.

The government's part, however, must largely go before congress for formal approval. In the chambers of the senate and house office buildings cautious consideration is being given already of legislative plans for carrying out the program.

While Democratic and Republican members who attended the conference publicly spoke the indorsement they had given the president's plan, scattered demands that congress be called into special session to cope with the situation were heard, indications were, however, that President Hoover would await the regular session to present his program.

Meanwhile, he turned to real estate men, builders and bankers to make possible a speeding up of home construction and consequent employment in the building trades.

Discuss Home Building
At a conference yesterday which he did not consider related to current emergency problems, the chief executive discussed with ten representatives of these groups plans to make it easier and less expensive for the future home builders to obtain credit. They were members of the finance committee of the coming White House conference on home building and home ownership which meets here Dec. 25.

Opposed by representatives of the building and loan associations, Harry S. Kissell of Springfield, Ohio, president of the National Association of Real Estate boards, presented a proposal for a central mortgage re-discount bank. The associations, however, were said to have plans for some form of central bank designed to expand credit.

Foremost under the administration's proposals, receiving legislative consideration is that to broaden the base of securities which the Federal Reserve system may accept for rediscounting.

In many cases gilt-edge securities held by banks have not been eligible for rediscount under the Federal Reserve restrictions, thereby tying up the institutions' assets.

A further plan to release banking funds will be presented to congress by John W. Pole, controller of the currency, in his annual report.

Would Amend Laws
He contemplates amending the national banking laws so that banks in any community, through cooperation with the receiver of a suspended bank, could make money available for the depositors. This, he believes, would speed up liquidation with consequent relief to depositors.

Already holding the approval of many congressional committees before him, the chief executive will lay his suggestion that congress authorize $50,000,000 in additional capital stock for the federal land banks to expand rural credit facilities.

With the support of the National Grange and the American Farm Bureau federation, little opposition to it is expected.

High Court To Pass On Cannon's Petition

New York—(AP)—Paul Clandel, ambassador from France to the United States, returned today on the liner Paris.

Extra Term Is Favored By Robinson

Washington—(AP)—An extra session of congress to deal with President Hoover's credit proposals and other necessary economic legislation was advocated today by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader.

The senate minority leader said the president's program was sound as far as it went but suggested supplemental actions, the provision of funds to allow federal and joint stock land banks to grant extensions of credit and the arrangement for renewal of 1931 crop loans to farmers.

"It does seem to me," Robinson said, "that the surest and quickest way to get decisions and to make plans effective is by assembling the congress."

Robinson, in his first comment on the president's program, said the proposals for a $500,000,000 credit fund and for expansion of paper eligible for discount at federal reserve banks "should prove helpful and of permanent advantage."

"If in addition, some feasible arrangement can be entered into which will provide the necessary funds or credit to enable both federal and joint stock land banks to grant reasonable and necessary extensions to their borrowers who are under temporary disadvantages due to the abnormally low prices of farm products, conditions in the rural sections will be substantially improved," he said.

FRENCH BANKER SAILS FOR UNITED STATES
Paris—(AP)—Vice Governor Charles Farnier of the Bank of France sailed for the United States today to confer with the heads of the Federal Reserve bank in New York on the international financial situation. He was accompanied by Robert Lacour-Gayet, director of the bank's economic section.

FORMER ASSEMBLYMAN HELD FOR EMBEZZLING
Monroe, Wis.—(AP)—A. B. Comstock, 74, Monroe gunsmith, former assemblyman and county supervisor, today was arraigned on a charge of embezzling about $8,000 from the estate of S. R. Eldred, Albany. The warrant was issued on complaint of H. C. Eldred, grandson of the elder Eldred and beneficiary of the estate.

DECISION ALSO DUE ON ACTION BY LEGISLATURE

Tribunal to Inquire Into Solons' Right to Re-instate Lawyer

Madison—(AP)—The state supreme court announced today that it will hear arguments late in November on the application of Raymond J. Cannon of Milwaukee for reinstatement as a member of the Wisconsin bar.

The validity of certain acts of the state legislature proposing to restore Cannon to the practice of law and remitting the costs imposed by the judgment of disbarment against him will be argued before the court by Cannon's attorneys and counsel for the state board of bar examiners.

Cannon was disbarred more than two years ago following an investigation of alleged "ambulance chasing" attorneys in Milwaukee. The last session of the state legislature reinstated him but Wisconsin courts refused to accept the legislature's power to do so.

A report on an investigation before the board of bar commissioners, to which Cannon submitted at the request of the supreme court was handed over to that court several weeks ago. It involved alleged misconduct on the part of Cannon in making public charges against Milwaukee and supreme court judges during his campaigns for those judgeships.

Cannon's Attitude
The bar commissioners made no recommendations to the supreme court except to say that Cannon admitted he may have erred in the past and agrees to observe fully the oath of an attorney, if he is reinstated.

The supreme court, in calling for arguments on the case, will go deeper into the matter and inquire into the power of the legislature to reinstate a disbarred attorney. The court has asked counsel for both sides to file briefs by Nov. 10 and the case probably will be heard soon thereafter.

Additional briefs also will be sought from the attorney general and from friends of the court.

In addition to the question of the legislative power to restore Cannon to practice and remit the costs of disbarment proceedings the call of the court includes one other issue: Whether Cannon's petition to reinstatement shall be granted even though the legislative act reinstating him is found invalid.

This leaves open the possibility that the supreme court may decide the legislature overstepped the line into the judicial field, while at the same time it may restore Cannon to practice, of its own volition.

EDISON'S VITALITY AMazes PHYSICIAN

West Orange, N. J.—(AP)—Thomas A. Edison spent a very restless night, but did not appear to be weaker today, his physician, Dr. Hubert S. Howe, announced in his morning bulletin.

"He ate a fair breakfast and does not appear to be weaker than last night. His vitality is amazing," the bulletin stated.

Dr. Howe said ordinarily he would be able to predict when a patient in Edison's condition would slip into the coma preceding death. In the case of Mr. Edison, however, he said such prediction was impossible because the aged inventor was making such a valiant battle for life.

Dr. Howe said although his examination did not reveal that Edison was any weaker today, still it was only natural to suppose that in fact the inventor was constantly gradually weakening.

BRIEFS ARE FILED IN BLATZ FIRM HEARING

Chicago—(AP)—Attorneys for the Blatz company of Milwaukee filed briefs with the prohibition enforcement department today denying government charges the company had beer of high alcoholic content illegally in its possession.

R. C. Milton, chief attorney for the prohibition unit here, who will decide whether the company will lose its permit to manufacture cereal beverages, said he would set a date for final oral arguments within a few days.

During a hearing before Minton in July, the company's defense was that the beer in question was used for experimental purposes to improve its near beer.

Minton said filing of the briefs was delayed by illness of the company's counsel.

NAMED TREASURER

Burlington—(AP)—Mrs. Laura O'Neil has been appointed city treasurer of Burlington by Mayor Louis A. Forge. She is the second woman to hold the office, and succeeds Mrs. L. P. Kessler, who died recently.

Clerk Of House Refuses Evidence To Grand Jury

Has No Right to Yield Reports on Campaign Funds, Page Declares

Washington—(AP)—William Tyler Page, clerk of the house of representatives, today refused to give a District of Columbia grand jury the original reports of campaign expenditures filed with him by Bishop James Cannon, Jr.

Page explained to the grand jury that the house was not in session and its rules prohibited him from surrendering its records without specific authorization.

The jury is investigating charges that Bishop Cannon violated the corrupt practices act in failing to report to congress on certain anti-Smith political expenditures in 1928.

The grand jury appealed to Justice James Proctor of the District of Columbia Supreme court, for a legal opinion of Page's action.

Justice Proctor asked whether a rule of the house could be held superior to an act of congress, pointing out that the corrupt practices act "seems to me necessarily involves the submission of papers to the grand jury."

"This rule," Page replied, "was laid down in 1875 and I do not think I could assume the house would condone my presentation of any part of the files."

NOBEL PRIZE WON BY SWEDISH POET

Award Made to Dr. Eric Axel Karlfeldt, Who Died Last April

Stockholm, Sweden—(AP)—The 1931 Nobel prize for literature was awarded today to Dr. Eric Axel Karlfeldt, the Swedish lyric poet.

Dr. Karlfeldt died last April 7. It was he who introduced Sinclair Lewis, winner of last year's prize in literature to the king of Sweden at the ceremony of presentation.

He was long regarded as one of Sweden's most gifted poets and his writings chiefly concerned the life and customs of the Dalecarlian peasants, his native stock.

Since 1901, the first year in which the prize was awarded, only two Swedish writers have received it: Lagerlof won it in 1909, and in 1916 it went to Verner Seldensman.

The prizes were established by the Swedish scientist Alfred B. Nobel, inventor of dynamite, who at his death in 1896 bequeathed $9,000,000, from the interest of which the prizes are paid. Sinclair Lewis' prize last year was worth $4,350. Fluctuating exchanges this year probably will reduce the money value by about $7,000.

The rules of the Nobel foundation stipulate that the works of a deceased writer may not be submitted in competition. But, however, if the work is recommended before the death of the candidate it still may receive the prize.

WOMAN COMMUNIST IS ARRESTED SECOND TIME

Lawrence, Mass.—(AP)—Miss Edith Berkman, Communist leader, was arrested for the second successive day as she led a column of 1,500 striking textile workers toward the courthouse where she was to be arraigned today. She was arrested yesterday and was at liberty on $200 bail.

MAN SLAIN FROM CAR
Chicago—(AP)—Nine bullets, fired from a speeding black sedan, put an end to the life of a man believed to be Victor C. Frankiewicz, politician, last night as he walked along the streets of Cicero.

Gandhi Ready To Visit U. S. If He Won't Be Ridiculed

London—(AP)—Mahatma Gandhi is willing to go to the United States at the conclusion of the round table conference if his American friends can convince John Haynes Holmes, New York pastor, that the mahatma would not be made a laughing-stock.

Pressed to make the trip by a number of American visitors, Gandhi said today: "Holmes, in whose opinion I place the greatest reliance, tells me my visit would be misunderstood, that I would be exploited, ridiculed and misinterpreted. On the other hand I've had pressing invitations signed by leading Americans."

"If these latter can convince Holmes I ought to go to America I shall be glad to reconsider my decision. I have a great affection for the American people and feel sure that I have a great many friends across the Atlantic, and I don't want to sacrifice that friendship."

CLAIM CAPONE ADMITTED TAX WAS DUE U. S.

Government Attorneys Say He Fixed Income at "$26,000 to $100,000"

Chicago—(AP)—Alphonse Capone was depleted by the government today as a tax delinquent who admitted through counsel a year and a half ago that he owed "some tax" and suggested that his income was from $28,000 to $100,000 a year.

The gang leader's attempt to "co-operate" with revenue agents in determining his liability was related to the court in a mass of documents—letters written by an attorney who formerly represented Capone, conversations between the attorney and government men and stenographic reports of conferences in which the defendant himself participated.

The jury got the morning off, as the evidence was given a pre-showing before the judge and as attorneys argued at length on his admissibility. Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson said several times he believed it was admissible but he allowed defense attorneys to discuss the point and arguments were still unfinished when court recessed for lunch.

The substance of the documentary evidence was that Capone hired Lawrence B. Mattingly, a Chicago attorney to confer with the revenue department concerning what the gangster's income was and how much tax he owed.

GREEN BAY ONE OF SIX CITIES ABOVE FUND GOAL

New York—(AP)—Green Bay was one of six cities in the United States reporting oversubscription in community chest drives, Owen D. Young, chairman of the committee on mobilization of relief resources of President Hoover's organization on unemployment relief, has announced.

The reports of the cities were for campaigns held in advance of the nationwide drive Oct. 19 to 25. Green Bay, raising $60,000, oversubscribed its quota $20,000.

ST. PAUL SAINTS WIN FROM ROCHESTER, 9-5

Rochester, N. Y.—(AP)—The St. Paul Saints, champions of the American association, jumped back into running for the little world series title today as they fell on Rochester pitchers for 17 hits to defeat the International league pennant holders 9 to 5 in the seventh game. The Saints' victory left the Redwings leading four games to three.

TOBACCO CAN SAVED OSHKOSH MAN'S LIFE BY DEFLECTING SHOT

Oshkosh—(AP)—Mark Wachtel, 37, Oshkosh mill works employee, today showed no sign of being shot at and struck down by a .38 calibre revolver bullet. A tobacco can carried in an inside coat pocket over his heart saved his life.

A bullet from a revolver police said was fired by Frank Schreiber, 40, another mill employee, struck Wachtel and floored him yesterday. The bullet was deflected by the tobacco can. Two other shots went wild.

Police arrested Schreiber at his home 30 minutes after the shooting. They said the men had been having difficulties for some time.

BRUENING IS FACING HARD TASK IN GERMANY

Berlin—(AP)—Germany has been without a cabinet for 24 hours, and at midday Chancellor Bruening's chances for forming a new cabinet quickly did not seem bright.

Dr. Bruening faces difficulties from three sides. President von Hindenburg wants the new ministry distinctly rightist, eliminating the Socialists and Trade Union influence; the Social Democrats, on the other hand, threaten to swing into open opposition if the chancellor moves to the right, and the Nazis threaten to have any part in any cabinet which Dr. Bruening heads.

THREE ARMED MEN HELD BY SHEBOYGAN POLICE

Sheboygan—(AP)—Three men who carried pistols, flashlights and about $3,000 in currency were held for investigation by Sheboygan police to contain license plates, but inside was a set of Indiana numbers.

The men are not the robbers who held up the Thiensville State bank Tuesday, it was said by W. C. Wieser, vice president of the bank who viewed the prisoners today.

2 Men Held In Kidnaping In St. Paul

St. Paul—(AP)—Two men accused by Chief of Police Thomas A. Brown of being members of the kidnapers gang, which abducted and tortured Morris Rutman, 27, dress shop proprietor for ransom, were taken into custody today. The men are James Egan Lynch, 28, Stillwater, Minn., and Walter Earl, 33, St. Paul.

Brown said both have been identified by Rutman as two of the seven men and a woman who held him prisoner for three days in a White Bear lake cottage, near here, where he was beaten and burned by alcohol, which was poured over his body and ignited with matches before he was freed early today.

Rutman was abducted from his home Monday night as he chatted with his wife. A masked man, wielding a pistol, ordered him from the house and forced him into an automobile, where Rutman related today, three other men waited.

They beat him over the head, trussed him with rope, and covered him on the floor of the car with a blanket. He said, as he could not determine, he was taken to a cottage near White Bear lake, where three more men and a woman waited.

They tortured him when he refused to talk, he said. The woman treated and bandaged his leg and shoulder which were severely lacerated.

Rutman refused to reveal what arrangements, if any, were made for his release and Chief Brown would not disclose at this time how or why he was freed.

Upon his release, the abductors took him by automobile to the north-west residential district of St. Paul and threw him from the car. Barefooted, he began walking home until a passing motorist picked him up and took him home. From there he was taken to a hospital and a policeman stationed at the door.

NEW DOLE RATES PUT IN EFFECT IN BRITAIN

London—(AP)—British workers who actually work and those who don't will go home to their "high tea" tomorrow night with even lesser peace in their pockets than on their last payday.

For Friday 14 both the British payday and dole distribution day and this week the new dole rates are in effect.

BOUNDARY DISPUTE UP TO HIGHEST TRIBUNAL

Lansing, Mich.—(AP)—Michigan and Wisconsin will join in an appeal to the United States supreme court to clarify its decision relative to the boundary line. It was agreed tentatively in a conference here Wednesday.

Michigan R. B. Boyles, deputy attorney general of Michigan, discussed the proposal with James H. Mesner, assistant attorney general of Wisconsin, J. A. McKenzie, chief conservation officer of Wisconsin, and W. H. Louitt, executive chairman of the Michigan Conservation commission.

The boundary dispute involves commercial fishing in the waters near the mouth of the Manistowish river and in the Green Bay area. Each state has threatened to arrest fishermen from the other, claiming they were trespassing.

Wisconsin permits a smaller mesh net than Michigan for non-resident commercial fishermen. No agreement has been reached as to the exact location of the line under the supreme court decision.

TOWERMAN SAVES CARDS' TRAIN FROM POSSIBLE SMASHUP

Lancaster, Pa.—(AP)—The special train of the St. Louis baseball team was saved from delay and possible accident last night by a signal towerman, who switched it off the main line after an automobile had plunged onto the tracks near here, killing two men and critically injuring a third.

The car left the highway at Paradise, when a tire blew out. Informed of the crash, the towerman, threw the block signal light to "stop" just as the train roared into sight. As the engineer slowed down, the towerman threw a switch, the train went past the wreckage on a parallel track, and then was shunted back to the original track without delay.

The dead were identified as Louis Goldstein, 55, and M. M. Beck, 55, both of Pittsburgh. The injured man is Sol Goldstein, 46, a brother of Louis. Police said they had tickets for the sixth game of the world series and were driving to St. Louis to see it.

REPEATS PLEA MADE IN 1927 AS SECRETARY

Warns Nations to Borrow or Lend Only for Reproductive Purposes

CHEERED BY DELEGATES Pan-American Group Hears Protest Against Loans for Armaments

Washington—(AP)—President Hoover reached back four years today to reiterate his theory of foreign loans, the following of which, he said, would have smoothed many a bump from the world's economic path.

Addressing the fourth Pan-American commercial conference, the president recalled his plea that foreign loans be made only for "reproductive purposes," delivered before the same conference in 1927. Then he was secretary of commerce.

"I repeat this today," the president said, "because had it been followed during these past five years our problems throughout the world would be far different, our difficulties infinitely less."

Expanding upon this idea, Mr. Hoover said he believed this constituted a lesson from this depression.

"I repeated part of his four years old address which said that 'it nations would do away with the lending of money for the balancing of budgets for purposes of military equipment or war purposes, or even that type of public works which does not bring some direct or indirect productive return—a great number of blessings would follow to the entire world.'"

For Private Action
Turning to present day affairs, Mr. Hoover told the Pan American delegates the American theory of government required that commercial enterprise, except in a rare emergency action, be essentially a private undertaking.

"The function of government," he said, "is to bring about a condition of affairs favorable to the beneficial development of private enterprise. The president's address follows."

"I am most happy to extend to you the warmest possible welcome on behalf of the government and people of the United States. We are grateful to you for coming to Washington at this time to discuss the commercial problems of common interest to the nations of America. You are meeting during a period of widespread economic depression, but this fact emphasizes, rather than diminishes the necessity for the nations of this continent to take counsel with one another."

"We recognize that the prosperity of each and every nation contributes to the prosperity of all. It is important that at conferences such as this the experience of each and every nation should be placed at the disposal of all in order that we may profit by our successes as well as learn the lessons of our failures."

LESSON FROM DEPRESSION

"There is a lesson to be learned from this depression to which I wish to refer, and I can present it no more forcibly than by repeating a statement which I made to this conference just four years ago, when we were in the throes of foreign loans."

I stated, in respect to such loans, that they are helpful in world development, provided always one essential principle dominates the character of these transactions: That is, that no nation as a government should borrow or no government lend and nations should encourage their citizens from borrowing or lending unless this money is to be devoted to productive enterprises."

"Out of the wealth and the higher standards of living created from foreign loans, must come the ability to repay them. This is the only basis for the borrowing countries. Any other course of action creates obligations impossible of repayment except by a direct subtraction from the standards of living of the borrowing country and the impoverishment of its people."

"In fact, if this principle could be adopted between nations of the world—that is, if nations would do away with the lending of money for the balancing of budgets for war purposes, or even that type of public works which does not bring some direct or indirect productive return—a great number of blessings would follow to the entire world."

Points to Danger
"There could be no greater step to the ability to repay, with this increasing security capital would become steadily cheaper, the danger to national and individual independence in attempts of the lender to collect his defaulted debts would be avoided; there would be definite increase in the standard of living and the comfort and prosperity of the borrower."

"There could be no greater step taken in the prevention of war itself. This is perhaps a little further toward the millennium than our practical world has reached and I do not

Labor Urged To Use "Big Stick" To Force U. S. Aid To Jobles

SHORTER HOURS ARE STRESSED AT CONVENTION

President Green Urges Lower Tariff Rates Between U. S., Canada

Vancouver, B. C. —(AP)—Exhorted by speakers to take up the "big stick" and "compel" congress to relieve unemployment under threat of political reprisal, the American Federation of Labor convention went to work today on the controversial issues before it.

Salient in the grist of resolutions up for discussion was one introduced by Miss Florence Curtis Hanson of the teachers' federation.

This resolution would put the federation on record with a demand for government employment assurance, work insurance, financed by state and federal aid; creation of a large reserve fund to support the unemployed in crises; shorter working hours; state control of industry; and a "long range" plan of public works.

Several speakers yesterday referred to "social revolution" and "social unrest" as a possible result of failure to solve the unemployment problem.

Edward Keating, former representative in congress from Colorado and editor of "Labor," said the workers had "the inalienable right to work, and in industry denies that right, I insist industry must be taxed."

"Don't worry about what industrialists, capitalists, and politicians tell you," he said. "Stick to your program. If congress betrays you, you will have the record as a weapon to bring about a political revolution in 1932."

Ralph Horr, Washington representative in congress, commended the federation for its "brave stand" on prohibition, saying the eighteenth amendment was ruining the judicial system.

Federation leaders have advocated legislation to permit the manufacture of 2.75 per cent beer.

Internal disagreements, particularly trades and crafts discipline, are expected to be settled in committee. A dispute between the building trades department and the carpenters, bricklayers and electrical workers was discussed secretly by a committee yesterday.

M. J. McDonough, president of the building trades department, expressed the belief the matter would be ironed out before it reaches the floor.

Favors Pact With Canada.

Lower tariff rates between the United States and Canada are advocated by William Green, president of the Federation.

Al Capone Goes on Trial

Alphonse Capone, variously known as Scarface Al, Snorky, "75" (the Big Gun), and Public Enemy No. 1, is being tried in Chicago charged with violation of the income tax law. He is pictured here, between guards, leaving the federal court at the close of the first day of his trial.

and newspaper men at a luncheon given yesterday by R. J. Cromie, publisher of the Vancouver Sun, Green said trade between the two nations should be encouraged, with tariff barriers knocked down as far as is "consistent" with reason.

"We ought to cultivate trade between the two nations," he said. "This rule of reason should apply, of course, so that best interests of both countries will be served. These things have to be adjusted equitably."

Green said he thought the Canadians had displayed "greater wisdom" in handling the liquor problem than the United States, stating "you have found a real solution of a very difficult social problem."

The moratorium on war debt payments, he said, must be extended for a considerably longer period than one year.

"There has got to be economic basis. The moratorium suggested by President Hoover must be extended for a much longer period. Perhaps the war debts must be revised. "There is no need to break the backs of any people to satisfy a feeling of revenge. War is peculiar in that nobody wins and everybody loses. We are learning that 13 years after the war."

$921 PROFIT REALIZED BY SEYMOUR FAIR

Association One of Few in State to Show Gain This Year

A profit of $921.18 was realized by the Seymour fair this year, according to a financial report prepared by George F. Fiedler, secretary. Mr. Fiedler points out that this showing is especially good this year, since 90 per cent of all the fairs in the state realized losses.

However, the fair at Seymour lists among other receipts a contribution of $5,000 from the county. Without this appropriation the fair would have shown a loss of more than $4,000.

Mr. Fiedler's report reveals receipts of $20,107.35 against disbursements of $19,186.18. Receipts were made up as follows:

Gate receipts, $4,565.96; grand stand receipts, $2,515.65; space and privileges receipts, $1,115.85; stall and pen fees, $522.25; entries in speed contests, $1,037.50; advertisements in the fair book, $189; amount due from state for aid on premiums, $4,287.10; county aid, $5,000; from the city of Seymour for use of the grounds as tourist camp and play grounds, $50; light, power and water, $73.05; loans, from bank, $500; total, $20,107.35.

Disbursements were as follows: premiums paid, $5,574.20; purses, speed department, $2,760; special acts and features, $4,023.80; officer's salaries, $800; judges and superintendents, $383.30; police, gate and other held, $537.76; advertising and publicity, $1,014.62; ribbons and banners, $97.20; printing and supplies, $381.31; maintenance, buildings and grounds, $1,117.91; insurance, $218; water, light and power, $169.82; interest on loans, $39.24; repayment of loans for 1931 fair, $500; general

BOY HURT DEFLECTING LIGHTED DYNAMITE CAP

Martin Van Domelen, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Van Domelen, Stanley, is in a Chippewa Falls hospital with a badly lacerated left hand, the result of deflecting a lighted dynamite cap thrown at him last Sunday evening, according to word received by relatives in this vicinity.

The Van Domelens were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Joseph De Bruin at Delmar, northwest of Stanley last Sunday, when the lighted cap was thrown at the youngster by a playmate.

The blast took off the thumb and about a half inch of the index finger, and lacerated the remainder of the hand. Pieces of the cap also struck the lad in the face, one under the left eye, and another over the right eye.

BALLARD IN CHARGE OF BOY SCOUT HIKE

Earl Ballard, committeeman of Troop 4, American legion, arranged a hike for scouts Thursday evening. The troop has been requested to meet at Mr. Ballard's home at 706 N. Ovals-st. The hike will take the weekly meeting at Appleton high school auditorium.

expenses $329.53; interest to trustees on bonded debt, $750. The bonded debt of the Seymour Fair and Driving Park association on Jan. 1, 1931, was $13,500. In addition there were outstanding notes of $1,426.60, making a total of $14,926.60 in outstanding debts on the first of the year. Cash on hand on Jan. 1 reduced the indebtedness to $14,703.53.

During the year $500 was paid off on the bonded debt and the notes at the bank were reduced to $1,212.90, making a total in indebtedness of $14,212.90. However, cash on hand on Oct. 1, was $430.55, reducing the total debt on Oct. 1 to $13,782.35.

ENROLLMENT FOR EVENING CLASSES NEAR COMPLETION

Night School to Get Underway Next Monday Evening, Heilig Says

Enrollment for evening trade classes in Appleton vocational school is practically completed, it was announced today by Herb Heilig, director. Evening classes will get underway at 7 o'clock next Monday evening.

The class in woodworking is filled to capacity, and there is a large waiting list. Any vacancies that may occur in this group will be filled from the list. Machine shop work this year will consist of bench, lathe, and drill press instruction, planer and shaper work, and milling machine practice. There is room for two more people in this class.

Electrical work is to be given one night a week this year. Instruction in this class will be of individual nature, because each student has certain things which he wishes to learn, it was pointed out.

There will be no class in a study of the electrical code. Three classes were organized in the last two years and it is believed that the work was comprehensive and intensive enough to satisfy the need for this type of instruction for a time at least.

A class has been organized in elementary welding for general mechanics who work in establishments where at least one torch is owned. This class has been filled, and instruction will start next Tuesday evening.

Another class in advanced welding is being organized and work will get under way in about two weeks.

Shop Sketching Class
Classes in drawing, blue print reading, and shop sketching will get underway next Tuesday evening. There still is room for several people. An advanced class in printing will be given Monday evenings. During the summer the course that will be offered to printers this year was arranged by the instructor, who is an experienced tradesman. It will be the first time that work of such an advanced nature will be offered to Appleton printers.

The group will be composed of people who have been in the class for the past two years. All members of the class will be tradesmen working in Appleton print shops. A class in sheet metal layout will be given once a week on Monday evenings. Carl Bertram, vocational

Squirrels Increase As Result Of Less Hunting

BY E. A. CLAFLIN
For various reasons squirrel hunting has not been followed to any extent during the last few years.

CLAFLIN

It Is Said--

That purple grackles in this vicinity must be holding a feathered farewell in the trees in Appleton before migrating to warmer climates. Great numbers of these birds have gathered in the trees and at sunset every afternoon the flock makes a raucous clatter that can be heard for blocks around.

That optimism still prevails. This week several merchants, after riding their stores of pesky flies, armed themselves with fly swats and flit and started a massacre of all flies in the street within a reasonable distance from their front doors.

That one baseball enthusiast made a forlorn picture on College-ave the other day, standing very much alone under a dripping umbrella while a loud speaker in an avenue store howled out the baseball game to the crowd of one.

school coordinator, is in charge of enrollments for the group.

Enrollments for a course in slide rule are now being taken. If the enrollment is too small, the class will not get underway until enough people have registered to warrant the employment of an instructor.

People interested in courses in general mathematics, shop mathematics, arithmetic or algebra may make their needs known to Mr. Bertram. The work to be offered in this field will not begin with the regular evening school program.

roam the quiet woods in squirrel season. The air is pure and bracing. At the time the squirrel season opens, Nov. 1, the leaves of such trees as shed them have fallen and a clear view is thus afforded for a considerable distance.

As one travels along on the alert for a frisking gray streak, the startling roar of a ruffed grouse's wings breaks in on the silence of the woods, or perhaps the shrill whistle of a belated woodcock reaches one's ears as the plump little bird flutters upward toward the skyline above the trees.

The hollow hammering of a red-headed woodpecker may cause one to think for a moment that a human being is out there striking the tree trunk. All these sounds are interesting and go to make up the program of a day in the woods. And then, when a gray or a brown fox squirrel is discovered all the sounds of nature are forgotten at once and a keen attempt is made to work around to such a position as will afford an opportunity to try one's skill with the little rifle.

The squirrel will see you long before you see him. His first move will be up some big tree. He will take a position on the opposite side of some limb and watch your every move.

If you are alone at the time it is quite a simple matter to fool the alert little fellow into giving you a shot. Just hang your hat on a bush where he can see it plainly. Then walk around to the opposite side of the tree. That is all that is necessary. He will intently watch the hat while you proceed to pick him off from your new point of view. That is, if you can hit the small mark offered you.

I often receive letters asking where squirrel shooting can be found. The grays prefer beech nuts and the fox squirrels acorns and nuts of the shellbark and other kinds. Therefore, wherever there is a stand of the trees I have mentioned look for them. Take your seat on a fallen log and keep still. You will soon hear one chattering. He may come quite close to you if you make no move.

Good squirrel country lies not far from Lena, where traces of hickory trees abound. In places along the Wolf River around Royalton both the gray and fox species are plentiful. The best way to locate them is to drive along until you locate the trees such as I have described and then make an investigation.

MAKE EFFORT TO GET CROWD FOR GAME SATURDAY

Saturday, the date of the Lawrence-Beloit football game here, has been designated as booster day, according to Robert Egger, publicity director of the college.

Booster day has been inaugurated in an attempt to advance the interest and support for the Viking squad, especially among the townspeople. The price of admission has been reduced to 50 cents. To further stimulate interest, all boys wearing Boy Scout uniforms are to be admitted free and as usual, the members of the "knot hole" club will be admitted without cost.

Saturday's game is the first of four home games scheduled for the Vikings this season. Booster day has been inaugurated in order to stimulate support and enthusiasm for the team.

MARSTON HEAD OF HOMECOMING GROUP

Plans Under Way for Lawrence College Event on Oct. 24

Plans for the annual Lawrence college homecoming Oct. 24, were definitely put under way this week with the appointment of Roy Marston as general chairman of homecoming activities by John Strange, president of the student senate. The feature attraction will be the football game with Riga college.

No definite plans have yet been made but the various committees have been appointed and will start work immediately. A general committee meeting will be held next Tuesday.

The various committee heads announced by Marston follow: Parade, Edward Weld; publicity, Arthur Smith; finance, Robert Mulford; dance, Harold Sperka; pep meeting and parade, Owen Sensenbrenner; decorations, Ralph Colburn; frolic, Helen Rudin; bonfire, Joseph Kexel.

A definite program will be announced after the general meeting next week.

MAENNERCHOR TO MEET
Weekly rehearsal of Appleton Maennerchor will be held at 7:30 Thursday evening in the Maennerchor rooms on W. College-ave under direction of Professor A. J. Theiss.

SCHOOL GROUP TO CONVENE IN CITY

Valley Junior High Principals Will Meet Here on Friday

The Fox River Valley group of the Wisconsin Junior High School Principals' association, which includes six junior high schools in the valley, will meet at 9:30 Friday morning at Roosevelt junior high school. A. G. Oosterhous, principal of Roosevelt junior high school, is supervising the conference.

Three speakers will discuss various phases of high school supervision. Mr. Oosterhous will give a resume of the Friday meeting at the state junior high school meeting on Wednesday, Nov. 4 in Milwaukee, preceding the state teachers' convention. Similar meetings are being held in the other districts of the state and will be reported at the state meeting.

The speakers at the Friday conference include S. P. Unzicker, assistant principal of Fond du Lac junior high school, who will discuss "Effective Methods in Classroom Instruction." Miss Margaret McMahon, principal of McCarty junior high school in Green Bay, whose subject is "Supervision Through Faculty Meetings"; Dr. M. H. Small, principal of Wilson junior

POST SCORES OF SERIES GAMES AT JUNIOR SCHOOL

Although the world series is keen at Roosevelt junior high school, Miss Jean Owen, office secretary, has found a way to keep the boys from popping into the office after every class with "What's the score?" She posts little signs all down the hall on first floor so that as each junior high school student comes out of class he can see the latest score. The game comes in every afternoon over the school radio that is connected in the athletic coach's office in the gymnasium.

MADISON MAN TO TALK AT TEACHERS MEETING

Albert Trathen, Madison, director of investments of the teachers' retirement fund, will address the Appleton Education association and teachers from surrounding towns at 8 o'clock Monday night in the high school auditorium. Mr. Trathen will explain the teachers' retirement fund.

high school, who will talk on "Side Lines of Supervision."

WRISTON WILL GO TO INAUGURATION

New President of Allegheny College Is Only 31 Years Old

President Henry M. Wriston will represent Lawrence college next Friday at the inauguration of the youngest class A college president in the United States. At this time William Pearson Tolley will be formally inducted into the presidency of Allegheny college, at Meadville, Pa. Dr. Tolley is 31 years old.

The inauguration ceremonies will bring together one of the most distinguished assemblies ever assembled for such an occasion. The entire membership of the Association of College Presidents of Pennsylvania will attend in a body. Representatives from most of the larger institutions of learning between New York and the Pacific coast will attend. More than one hundred acceptances to the invitations sent out by the president, faculty, and trustees of Allegheny college have been received to date.

Among the speakers will be Andrew W. Robertson of New York, chairman of the Board of Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company; Ezra S. Tipple, former president of Drew university; Miss Ida M. Tarbell, a graduate of the college; Dr. John J. Ross of Columbia university; Ernest H. Wilkins, president of the Association of American Colleges, and William W. Bishop, chairman of the Group on College Libraries of the Carnegie Corporation.

Common Council Takes Steps To Relieve Unemployment In City

SEWER WORK, PAVING WILL CREATE JOBS

Aldermen Accept Bid for Improvement of Five Streets in Appleton

The city's plan for unemployment relief began to take definite form Wednesday night when the common council voted to advertise for bids for the installation of storm sewers on Morrison and Durkee-sts., from Atlantic to Commercial-st., and accepted the bid of Fred Holtz on sewer laterals on several streets proposed for paving next summer. Additional p.s. for employment are seen in the opening of bids for the John-st. canal bridge, authorization of the street department to investigate the advisability of erecting a new street department building, and the acceptance of the R. J. Wilson company bid on the R. J. Wilson canal bridge. The latter bid, for $807.40, was accepted on the provision that the work be done by hand labor.

The bids on John-st. bridge—Simpson and Parker $4,935, C. R. Meyer and Sons, $6,377, George Probst $7,780.

McGillan Embarrassed
Alderman R. F. McGillan found himself in the predicament of the housewife caught with "not a thing in the house and company's at the door" at the meeting of the common council Wednesday night.

The mayor called him to the chair to preside over the committee of the whole. The fourth ward alderman had left his "specs" at home and couldn't read the reports.

Alderman W. H. Gmelner attempted to meet the emergency with a small pocket magnifying glass, but finally Alderman McGillan decided to appoint Alderman C. O. Davis—who had his glasses—secretary of the meeting.

890, and Walter Blake and Sons company $7,787—were referred to the board of public works for a conference with the Green Bay and Mississippi Canal company.

After arguing the advisability of abandoning the 1932 paving program which involves the installation of sewer laterals this fall, the council decided to accept the Holtz bid for the John-st. canal bridge.

Would Defer Work
In view of several protests against paving next summer Mayor John Goodland, Jr., felt that it was more expedient to confine construction projects to those things which would be paid for out of the general fund, rather than paving, which lays an additional burden on the taxpayer. He suggested that the 1932 paving program be held over until spring, and that if conditions are not improved, to defer it even longer.

A motion by Alderman McGillan asking that the 1932 paving program be deferred until 1933, was lost, but later, rather than allow the installation of sewer laterals to go forward on the assumption that all streets in the 1932 program are to be paved, the council selected five streets where laterals are to be laid this fall.

Alderman McGillan argued against installing this fall on streets which will not be paved next year, and at the same time objected to deferring the installation of laterals until next spring if the streets are to be paved.

Water Approved
The filter department was given permission to install additional filter equipment, which it is estimated will cost about $9,000. The project will be financed with surplus earnings of the plant.

Believed Suicide

Suicide is seen in the death of Violet Livingston, above, 22-year-old employee of Rockford college, Rockford, Ill. Her old-fashioned body was found in the ruins of a burned cottage near Janesville, Wis.

TAKE TESTIMONY IN PROSTRATION CASE

Hearing in Workmen's Compensation Cases Close at City Hall

Testimony in another heat prostration case was taken by the Wisconsin Industrial commission at its final session in city hall Wednesday afternoon. Lucas Trembl, Appleton, who is still under the care of a physician, was overcome by the heat while loading hay for Michael Kohl at Grand Chute, June 30. The case of Anton Derus, who died on July 1 following heat prostration on the same day, was not completed when the commission adjourned at 6 o'clock.

In the case of John McCann, 321 S. Cherry-st. against the Riverside Paper company, the claimant asked damages for the loss of four fingers of his right hand. Mr. McCann caught his hand in a calendar roll at the mill on Oct. 15, 1930.

90 WOMEN RESUME SWIMMING LESSONS

Ninety swimmers attended the first day of classes Wednesday at the Y. M. C. A., according to Mrs. John Mills, swimming instructor. These women's classes are sponsored by the Appleton's Woman's club. The largest enrollment was from 5:30 to 6:30 for business and professional women. This class is filled. There is room for more swimmers in all the other classes, including the matron's class from 10 to 11 o'clock in the morning, the mothers' and children's group from 3:30 to 4:30 in the afternoon and the second business and professional women's class from 6:30 to 7:30. The 7:30 to 8:30 hour is a recreational period for which swimmers purchase their own swimsuits at one time from the Woman's club.

Request Granted
The request of the school board for an Appleton-st entrance to the Lincoln school grounds was granted, an arterial is to be placed at the exit of St. Elizabeth hospital, the change in the Wisconsin Michigan Power company schedule was approved, and St. Joseph hall was granted a license for two bowling alleys.

The 1932 paving program and a protest against paving W. College-ave from Outagamie-st. to Linwood-ave was referred to the street and bridge committee. Clarence Stearns, 402 E. Wisconsin-ave, was appointed to the board of electrical examiners, replacing J. H. Woehler, whose term has expired.

The request for an extension of water into Glendale plat was denied, as was the petition to have lot 1, block 1, Bouten plat, placed in the local business district.

Three ordinances were referred to the ordinance committee and ordered published and copies of three proposed ordinances are to be sent to the aldermen for study.

Supervisors of the state bureau of fire inspection for the improvement of the Appleton fire department were sent to the fire and water committee. Power grader bids will be tabulated by the street and bridge committee.

A request from L. Blacher, junk dealer, for an extension of time until next spring to clean up his junk yard, because the market on scrap iron is so low, brought about a healthy reminder from Alderman Vogt that junk dealers were supposed to have cleaned up their yards and secured their licenses by Oct. 1. Over his negative vote the petition was referred to the police and license committee.

The extension of the sewer on Washington-st. east of Superior-st. about 50 feet, and the replacement with a larger sewer of the small sewer west of the culvert on Memorial-dr. were approved. In the future all new walks to be built in the city, chargeable to property owners, will be constructed under the city contract with Julius Krause, while repairs and replacements will be made by either the street department or the contractor.

Knights of the Night at Greenville Pavilion, Sunday.

HOLD INQUEST IN DEATH OF NEENAH MAN

Coroner's Jury Hears Testimony in Connection With Fatality

A coroner's jury this afternoon was hearing testimony at the city hall in the death of Henry Kampe, 42, 637 Congress-st., Neenah, whose body was found on Highway 41 between Kimberly and Appleton early Monday morning. The coroner's inquest was started Monday afternoon. After the jury viewed the body and the scene of the accident, an adjournment was taken until today. The recess was needed, District Attorney Stanley A. Skid pointed out, to give more time to investigate the accident.

Kampe's skull was fractured. His body lay several feet off the road and his shoes were found on the shoulder of the road, about four feet from the body. His hat was found 15 feet from the body.

Dr. George T. Hegner, in a statement before the jury Monday afternoon, said it was difficult to determine whether Kampe was killed as a result of being struck by an automobile. He said if the injuries were caused by a car, that it must have been by the hub cap of the machine.

The district attorney's theory is that Kampe was walking along the road when he was hit by a car and that the driver fled. Kampe's body was found by Morris Lehrer of Kaukauna.

LEGION STARTS 1932 MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

Committee Hopes for 500 Renewals by Nov. 11—150 Already Signed

With approximately 150 renewed memberships already in, the annual membership campaign of the Appleton post of the American Legion has started. The membership committee met last night to formulate plans. At least 500 membership renewals will be sought by Nov. 11, Armistice day. Last year's memberships totaled 810 veterans.

The membership committee is composed of Fred Helms, Fred W. Miller, August Peters, William Deane, Arthur Bunk, Clarence Baetz and Herbert Holbe. Members of the committee have pledged themselves to see a certain number of members.

Eric L. Madsen again has been named chairman of the Armistice day speaker program. Arrangements now are being made to get a national speaker here for a joint meeting of the auxiliary and legion at Rainbow Gardens. George Butz is chairman of the banquet committee.

The executive committee has expressed the hope that business houses will observe Armistice day, Nov. 11, as a legal holiday, that factories and business houses will close, and that whistles will blow and bells ring at 11 o'clock.

It also has been announced that Kaukauna and Appleton legion posts want to sponsor a charity football game between Kaukauna and Appleton high teams, the proceeds to go to charity. The game would be played Nov. 11.

FROST PROBABLE IN APPLETON TONIGHT

Frost is probable in this vicinity Thursday night, the weatherman says. Fair weather with a drop in the mercury has been predicted for the southwest and south central portions Thursday night.

The mercury started dropping here Thursday morning. At 10 o'clock it registered 57 degrees above zero, while at noon it registered 53 degrees. Winds are shifting to the north and northwest.

KILLS FOUR DUCKS ILLEGALLY; PAYS $76 FOR OFFENSE

Roland Blank, Hortonville, was fined $76.53 in municipal court at Oshkosh yesterday when he admitted that he shot four ducks on Lake Poygan Tuesday evening after sunset. Blank was fined $50 and costs, plus $5 for each of the birds he shot illegally. He was represented by A. Chase and A. F. Dunham, conservation wardens. The wardens told the court there had been considerable shooting of game birds on this lake after sunset.

TELLS OF NEED FOR KNOWLEDGE OF PAST

Professor Tells Students They Live in Age of Miracles

The need of a knowledge of the past, in order to live properly in the present, was stressed in an address yesterday by Professor John MacHarg at a convocation program for Lawrence college students at Lawrence Memorial chapel.

"As one needs a key to open the doors of a house, so do we need the key of knowledge to give us an insight into the significance of current events," Dr. MacHarg said. Enlarging on the ideas presented by John Finley, editor of the New York Times, who spoke at the dedication of the Institute of Paper Chemistry building recently, Dr. MacHarg pointed out that people today are living in an age of miracles. He said they couldn't hope to read into the current events of this tumultuous period, through which the world is passing, and grasp the full meaning and implications unless there is an educational background upon to which to base ideas.

In closing his talk, Dr. MacHarg urged the students to take advantage of the opportunities for self-education offered by Lawrence college. In particular he stressed the opportunities offered by the college and city libraries.

KAUKAUNA MAN HURT WHEN CAR OVERTURNS

Fred Nettekoven, 25, Kaukauna, suffered severe lacerations to the scalp and face when the car he was driving overturned on Highway 54, about four and a half miles west of Seymour, about 10 o'clock last night. Nettekoven, driving west toward Black Creek, missed a curve in the road and his machine turned over. The car was badly damaged. Peter Oudenhoven, county motorcycle officer, witnessed the accident. He took Nettekoven to the farm home of Robert Hein nearby, and after his wounds were dressed he was taken by the officer to his home in Kaukauna.

BIRTHS

A son was born Wednesday to Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Nettekoven, route 1, Fremont-st. St. Elizabeth hospital. A daughter was born Thursday to Mr. and Mrs. Ewald Still, 600 Memorial-dr. at St. Elizabeth hospital. A daughter was born Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Yunk, Jr., 813 N. Bennett-st. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Van Caster, 125 N. Bennett-st.

A son was born Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wolff, route 2, Black Creek.

TWO DRIVERS FINED ON SPEEDING CHARGES

Two drivers were fined $10 and costs each in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg this morning when they pleaded guilty of speeding. They were Norbert Van Bostel, Little Chute, arrested for driving 40 miles an hour on E. Wisconsin-ave, and Mrs. Robert Tysen, 1214 E. Pacific-st. Both arrests were made by Officers Alfred Gosha and Earl Thomas.

UTTS WILL ATTEND RESERVIST MEETING

The Rev. L. D. Utts, a chaplain in the organized reserve of the United States army, will attend the annual state department convention at La Crosse Friday and Saturday. He will represent Appleton chapter of the reserves. Major Gen. Frank B. Parker, commanding the Sixth corps area of the army, will be one of the speakers.

PET STOCK ASSOCIATION MEETS THIS EVENING

The Fox River Valley County Poultry and Pet Stock association will meet at the George Loos harness shop at 7:30 Thursday evening. Bids on the catalog for the annual poultry and pet stock show will be considered.

Judge Denies New Trial In Criminal Slander Case

Holding that affidavits from jurors who said they erred in reaching a verdict are wholly improper as evidence for a new trial, Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court this morning denied the motion of attorneys for Fred A. Mueller, town of Center, for a new trial. Mueller recently was convicted by a jury in municipal court of malicious slander and Judge Berg imposed a fine of $100 and costs.

Mueller now must either pay the fine and costs or appeal the case to the state supreme court. It was not signified this morning by Mueller's attorney as to what move will be made.

KENOSHA MAN AGAIN ELECTED PRESIDENT OF CHIROPRACTORS

Dr. J. W. Klema Retained as Leader—Fennimore Man First Vice President

Dr. J. W. Klema, Kenosha, was reelected president of the Wisconsin Chiropractic association at the Thursday morning session of the twentieth annual convention at Conway hotel. Dr. A. H. Truitt, Fennimore, was reelected first vice president; Dr. J. H. Tenpenney, Elkhorn, was elected second vice president; Dr. A. W. Schowalter, Milwaukee, was reelected secretary; and Dr. I. G. Moe, Racine, treasurer. Sergeant at arms is Dr. E. M. Burdge, Oconomowoc, and Dr. F. J. Radtke, Wisconsin Rapids was elected to the board of directors.

The next convention city was to be selected this afternoon. Jamie H. H. Chicago, one of the speakers at the morning session discussed organization of the state and district association. He also talked about chiropractic, using for his theme the quotation, "Let there be light."

Arthur Holmes, LaCrosse, who represents the national chiropractic association, reviewed legal aspects of cases in which he has acted in behalf of chiropractors.

Profession Praised
Prof. James L. Mursell of Lawrence college was one of the speakers at the afternoon meeting. There also were talks by chiropractors, including Dr. Karl J. Hawkins, Davenport, Ia.

Three state assemblymen gave short talks praising the chiropractic profession at a banquet at Conway hotel last night. They were Oscar J. Schmiede, Appleton; H. C. Malchow, Green Bay; and William A. Mayer, Oshkosh. All pledged their assistance to the chiropractors and praised them as being members of a new profession which would someday be given the respect and recognition it deserves.

A short talk also was given by John Morgan, Appleton, who urged the chiropractors to work together so they might someday be as powerful as the American Medical society.

Thomas A. Duncan, Madison, the governor's secretary, who was scheduled to give the principal address of the evening, was unable to be present.

Before the talks there was a program of dancing by students of the Vesper Chamberlain Dancing school. Al Cubes Hawaiian trio furnished music during the dinner. A dance followed the program.

Salvation Army Still $2,444 from Goal, Reports Reveal

The Salvation Army still is $2,444 from its goal of $6,500 in the annual financial campaign. It was announced this morning by Eric Lindberg, general chairman. Approximately $800 is expected by Friday afternoon from various subscribers.

Every effort is being made to clean up the campaign this week. People who have not been solicited by team workers have been urged to send in their subscriptions to the Salvation Army headquarters on N. Morrison-st., Lindberg says.

The campaign in various stores and industrial plants still is in progress. Dr. D. S. Rannels expects to finish soliciting in this field by Friday afternoon.

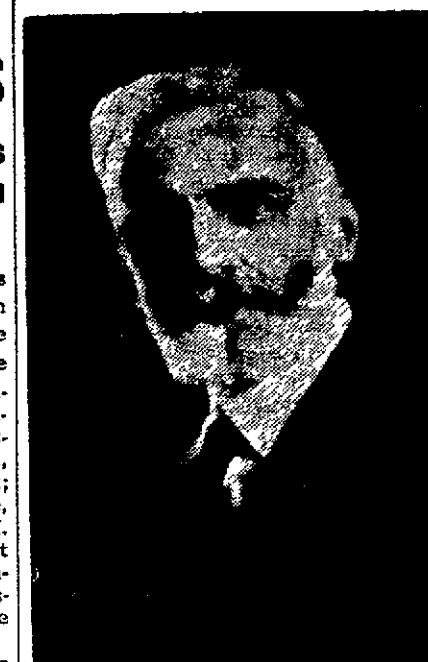

GRANT DIVORCE ON CHARGE OF CRUELTY

Mrs. Ruth Keefe, 321 W. Packard-st., Appleton, was granted a divorce by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court yesterday afternoon from her husband, Norbert Keefe, 404 Nicolet-blvd., Menasha. She charged he was cruel and inhuman because he failed to support her and their two children, and because he struck her and abused her. Mr. Keefe did not contest the suit and the plaintiff was awarded custody of the children and $30 per month alimony. The couple was wed at Bemidji, Minn., Aug. 27, 1924, and separated June 30, 1931.

GOING TO CONFERENCE

A group of farmers plan to attend a milk marketing conference at the college of agriculture, Madison, tomorrow. They will leave in automobiles between 6 and 7 o'clock in the morning. The program in Madison will open at 10 o'clock.

Re-elected

GEORGE T. PRIM

Milwaukee —(AP)—All officers of the Wisconsin State Chiefs of Police association were unanimously reelected today at the closing session of the annual convention.

They are: Henry C. Baker, Racine, president; Samuel A. Minturn, West Allis, vice president; George T. Prim, Appleton, treasurer, and R. H. McCarty, Kaukauna, secretary.

The 1931 convention will be held at Oshkosh. Mayor T. J. Brown, Oshkosh, was named an honorary member of the association.

NEXT BABY CLINIC FRIDAY MORNING

Examinations to Begin at 9 O'clock at Appleton Woman's Club

Mothers are urged to bring their babies early tomorrow morning to the free baby clinic sponsored by the Appleton Woman's club under the supervision of the Outagamie Medical association. This is the last of a series of baby clinics begun last year, and the club is planning to sponsor a system of monthly clinics during this year.

The clinic will open at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Woman's club and will last until 12 o'clock. Babies will be registered at the desk on the first floor. Nurses will weigh and measure each child and fill out a health card.

Doctors in charge of the examinations are Dr. D. M. Gallaher and Dr. Carl Neidhold. Assisting nurses are Mrs. John Haug, Mrs. C. O. Gochnauer, Miss Ellen Buckland and Miss Lucy Scholtz. Other members on the committee are Mrs. A. G. Meating, chairman, Mrs. Harry Griffin and Mrs. William Nema-check.

EDITOR TO SPEAK AT LIONS CLUB MEETING

John B. Chapple, editor of the Ashland Press, will talk to the Lions club at Conway hotel Monday noon. Members of the Optimist and Kiwanis clubs will be invited. Mr. Chapple will discuss socialistic tendencies in Wisconsin.

1932 Automobile Licenses Available After Oct. 31

Police Chief George T. Prim has received word from Theodore Dammann, secretary of state, of important changes made by the 1931 legislature in the automobile license laws. Mr. Dammann's letter follows:

"The following increase in fees is effective beginning with 1932 registrations; cars weighing 4,000 pounds or more and less than 4,500 pounds, $24; weight 4,500 pounds or more and less than 5,000 pounds, $38; weight 5,000 pounds or more, $48. The correct fee for your automobile is indicated on the application blank which is being mailed to you.

"Applications for 1932 licenses will be accepted any time after Oct. 31, and no automobiles, passenger busses or motorcycles shall be operated without new licenses after Feb. 1, 1932. (Penalty $10 to $100.)

"License plates must remain upon the vehicle for which they are issued until plates for the succeeding year are received and attached. (Penalty for using plates on vehicles other than that for which they were originally issued, $50 to $200.)

"Be sure to indicate in the space provided on the application blank the city, village or township in which your automobile is kept, in order that its share of the gasoline tax may be credited to your community.

"Apply for your 1932 licenses as soon as possible, sending us your certificate of title, application blank and the correct fee in the enclosed envelope. Your cooperation will result in prompt and efficient service."

COMMITTEE ON POOR SCORED BY ALDERMAN

Group Assumes Too Much Authority, Vogt Says at Council Meeting

The poor committee was criticized by Alderman Philipp Vogt at the meeting of the common council Wednesday night for assuming too much authority in the control of the indigent problem. At a recent meeting the committee voted to pay no rents, gas, electricity, water, medical, hospital or drug bills. The resolutions of the committee were never brought before the council.

Alderman Vogt related a recent instance where a man who was ill, was given a prescription by the city physician, but was unable to secure the medicine until he finally located an official who gave him authority to charge the medicine to the city.

Declaring that no committee had a right to assume this much authority, the Sixth ward alderman termed a blanket ruling of this nature "utterly ridiculous." He said that the poor commissioner had refused the man the right to charge the medicine to the city, and inferred that neither the commissioner nor the committee should have the right to refuse medicine to the sick if they had not first investigated the case. Alderman Thompson asked why the city physician had not been given authority to determine who should be privileged to charge medicines, and Alderman Wassenberg suggested that an investigator be added to the poor department. He felt that no taxpayer would object if drug bills amounted to $1,000 if those who received the medicines were deserving cases and argued that in order to determine who should receive aid an investigator should be added to the poor department.

TAKE BIDS ON ROAD PROJECT AT KAUKAUNA

Bids are to be received by the division state highway office at Green Bay on Tuesday, Oct. 13, on two road projects in Outagamie and Oconto cos. The Outagamie-co project is the paving of 0.725 miles of road on Highway 55 in the city of Kaukauna. Funds for this improvement are being furnished by the state and completion of the job will complete the paving of Highway 55 through Kaukauna. Major items on this job include 4,410 cubic yards of earth excavation; 3,577 pounds of reinforcing steel; 8,520 square yards of Portland cement surfacing; and 134 square yards of steel fabric reinforcement.

The Oconto job is the construction of Leighton bridge on Highway 22. The Outagamie-co highway committee will go to Green Bay Tuesday to be present at the opening of bids.

Explains Situation
Alderman McGillan, chairman of the poor committee, reminded the council of the hundreds of dollars spent in drug bills last year and said that the city could not afford to be imposed upon during the coming winter. He told of cases where indigents did not have money to buy medicines, because they knew they could wangle drug bills out of the city, but who did have money to go to movies. Questioned about the number of persons who will need assistance this winter, he said there was no way of determining. Last year there were only 65 on the poor list at the beginning of the year, and in the peak months of the year 187 were being aided, at a cost of $22,000 to the city. There are now 302 persons on the unemployment list, he said.

The question of buying fire wood for the poor in carload lots was referred to the city attorney, who is to decide if the city can buy carload lots of wood without advertising for bids.

7 BADGER WOMEN GOING TO MEETING

League of Women Voters to Gather in St. Louis This Week

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington — An announcement from the Washington headquarters of the National League of Women Voters lists seven Wisconsin women prominent in the organization. Among those expected to attend the league's public welfare conference to be held Thursday and Friday in St. Louis.

They are Mrs. M. V. O'Shea of Madison, president of the Wisconsin League; Mrs. F. L. Clapp of Madison, chairman of the committee on education; Mrs. H. Jerome of Madison, chairman of the committee on living costs; Mrs. Lilla Allen of Oshkosh, chairman of the committee on child welfare; Mrs. A. H. Willinson of Milwaukee, social hygiene committee chairman; Mrs. Thomas Duncan of Milwaukee, chairman of the committee on women in industry; and Miss Cornelia Groth of Milwaukee, executive secretary of the Badger State organization.

The promotion of the progressive development of governmental agencies in securing public welfare will be the chief problem before the meeting. Consideration will be given to the coordination of federal and state employment service and unemployment insurance. Support is promised for federal appropriations for maternity and infancy hygiene work, and improvement of child labor legislation.

Attendance at the conference is limited to officers and committee chairmen of the League of the states of Wisconsin, Nebraska, Kentucky, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Michigan and Ohio.

JUNIOR STUDENTS TO TAKE PART IN SPELLING TESTS

Many syllabled words will play tag with junior high school students' pencils Friday when a spelling review test is given at every junior high school in Appleton. Jirlekishas will mix with parallelograms and turn out idiosyncrasies but each word missed on Friday's test means one more to learn during the year.

A. G. Oosterhaus, principal of Roosevelt junior high school will supervise the testing and a second test will follow in the spring to see if the students have learned a definite list of words for students of junior high school age. Mr. Oosterhaus has finished giving English tests in the junior high schools. Remedial work the semester will be based on the results of the tests which are diagnostic in nature. Teachers will be able to ascertain what each student needs for individual drill work. A follow-up test in English will be given in the spring to measure the progress made during the year.

MR. HOOVER'S PLAN

Restoration of confidence in the ultimate recovery of normal business conditions by having private capital advance cash on securities that for various reasons are not readily liquefiable now, with the government cooperating by liberalizing rules under which credit can be extended by reserve banks is President Hoover's latest suggestion for stimulating business. His proposal received unanimous support from the Democratic and Republican congressional leaders to whom it was offered at a White House conference.

Mr. Hoover's proposal takes into account that the people of America, as well as the banks, are hoarding hundreds of millions of dollars that could be and would be put into circulation if the people and the bankers had confidence that this money eventually will come back to them. This hoarding of cash is a tremendous factor in holding back return to normal prosperity.

The president believes, and there is ample evidence to substantiate his premise, that if confidence in the integrity of American business institutions and in the future prosperity of this country can be restored, this money will come out of safety deposit boxes, out of mattresses and out of bankers' vaults and will go into normal circulation. But so long as there is a feeling of uncertainty the situation will become worse instead of better, and this vast accumulation of cash will remain hidden where it will do no one, even its owners, any good.

The crux of the whole situation, as the president sees it, is to find a means of removing the fears that hold these millions of cash in bondage.

President Hoover proposes that private capital create a pool of a half billion dollars for the purpose of advancing cash on securities which are perfectly sound but which at the present moment cannot be converted into cash without serious losses. The very fact that private capital is ready to advance cash on securities or credits whose value the public questions will in itself in a large measure build up confidence in these securities, in the institutions whose credit they represent and finally in business in general.

The president also envisions the release of large sums of money for trade purposes by having this pool handle frozen assets of insolvent banks, thereby enabling these banks to advance cash to depositors in advance of liquidation.

The net result, the president hopes, will be to liberate millions of dollars for buying the necessities of life, for home construction, for payment of debts, and eventually this money will find its way into industry to put the wheels in motion.

The government's part in this vast scheme is to liberalize the rules governing the extension of credit by reserve banks so that these institutions can loan money on securities not now acceptable. This, in addition to easing up the credit situation, will be an expression of the part of the government of its confidence in the ultimate recovery of business. Further than that, the president proposes that if private capital is unable to establish a credit agency sufficient to meet the needs, the government itself will organize a corporation for that purpose. The president of course is hopeful that this confidence on the part of the government will be contagious and that it will result in creating a feeling of greater security.

Wisconsin and other western states in which the financial condition of the farmer is an important barrier to normal buying, are particularly interested in Mr. Hoover's plan to extend additional credit help to agriculture. Farmers can find hope in two of his proposals, first in his suggestion for strengthening federal land banks and secondly in liberalization of rules for federal reserve banks. Communities like those in the Fox river valley which depend upon rural residents for from 40 to 60 per cent of their retail market know that there is little hope for renewed buying unless additional financial assistance in some form reaches the farmer. Bankers operating under present rules have, in most cases, gone the limit. The president's proposal, however, offers hope that more can be done to tide the farmer over this period of depressed prices.

There is bound to be a certain amount of skepticism in the reception of the president's plan, in view of previous plans and panaceas issued from the White House. The present proposals, however, have the stamp of approval of the outstanding leaders of both major political parties, and bear the earmarks of having been thoroughly digested by responsible industrial and financial leaders before they were submitted to the conference. This much is evident, the president's plan is the most concrete suggestion offered thus far.

Mr. Hoover believes that the principal obstacle to normal business is "foolish alarm" and he is offering a means for allaying these fears. If American business men would have the people believe that they are sincere in their contention that this is only a temporary recession, that prosperity will be restored, they can prove their sincerity by cooperating with the president in his plan.

UTILITIES WIN FIRST ROUND

Wisconsin utilities won the first round of their fight against the new utilities regulation law when Judge Hoppmann of the Dane county circuit court declared invalid that part of the law which permits the Public Service commission to assess the cost of an investigation against the utility that is being investigated. Judge Hoppmann upheld the contention that the law is a delegation of legislative power to the commission and hence is repugnant to the constitution.

While it is quite likely that appeal will be taken to the state supreme court and probably to the United States supreme court, the decision is an important victory to the utilities.

So long as this law is on the statute books utilities in this state are subject to constant guerrilla attack. The law is an open invitation to systematic persecution of utilities, with the latter paying all the costs of persecution as well as the cost of defense. In its investigations the commission can engage all the high-priced experts it desires; it can hire all the attorneys that expediency or politics dictates and incur all the expenses it wishes, secure in the knowledge that the utility under investigation will pay all the costs.

At the present moment the commission is engaged in a state-wide investigation of Wisconsin Telephone company rates and practices and bills amounting to several thousand dollars, incurred by the commission for the employment of experts and for other expenses have been sent to the company for payment. The investigation might continue for months or years, dozens of attorneys might be employed, an army of clerks set to work to check up on records and all the costs incurred would be charged against the telephone company.

While on the surface this might appear to be all for the benefit of the public served by the utility in the long run it will mean either increased rates to meet these charges or it will result in driving the utilities out of business. It is possible that the latter possibility is the hope that fathered the law. If operation of utilities can be made sufficiently unprofitable for the private owners, there might be less opposition to state ownership and operation.

KEEPING TAB
The Berlin police, as well as those of some other of the larger German cities, are very anxious that a beauly obligatory for all motorists to carry a log-book. Such a record would show just what trips were made by each driver every day, and where his car was at practically every moment of time.

These books would be subject to the demand of the traffic officers and would be a valuable aid either in exculpating, or indicating those guilty of accidents, and offenses against the law.

Only truthful entries could be made, for a checkup of them could readily be effected, and falsification in the record detected in the absence of corroborative testimony. Such falsification would be prima facie evidence of guilt or responsibility in the case of suspected persons.

The police are also behind a movement to establish overhead cameras for streets and highways at every railroad intersection, to eliminate the fatalities occurring so frequently at such points. More drastic regulations with regard to licensing motorists whose sight, hearing and mental or physical alertness are impaired are also urged by those in charge of public safety.—Cologne (Germany) Gazette.

There are 60,000 drug stores in the United States. They put up about 180,000,000 prescriptions a year.

AND IT took a dog to do it . . . yessir, down in Indiana, some of the Hoosier organization of bank bandits tried to stage a holdup. They took some small change off the counters and made a play for the vault . . . an air raid, cooling his heels in front of the vault started to growl at him . . . and the bandits hot-footed it for the door . . . banking organizations had better hold a class in growling . . . maybe, when we ask one of 'em to renew our note, we'll find out that they already know how . . .

Alphonse Capone went to court Tuesday to attend the opening of the festivities arranged in his honor. Alphonse was a trifle nervous. But, boys and girls, did Alphonse take a shot of his own likker brace his up? Did he stop for just one snifter before the proceedings began? No, boys and girls, Alphonse put a piece of candy in his mouth and chewed on that.

What's the world coming to? A gang chieftain eating candy at his trial.

A Swear Word, Too

The dry forces are supposed to have called those who tilt a bottle—"Imps of Hell." And now, just to illustrate American perversity, organizations are springing up all over the country, organized by anti-prohibition forces.

And they're called the "Imps of Hell."

Speaking of inconsistencies in the profession—as we were a few paragraphs above, talking about Al Capone—note what Gene Tunney has to say about his visit to Russia:

"One seemed to lose one's identity the moment the Russian border was crossed. You began to feel the meaning of: Oh, to be lord of ones' self, unencumbered with a name."

None of this: "So I parks my dogs wit dem Rooshian blokes and I ain't been dere a half hour afore I-almost forgoes me own monnicer."

Culture is the keynote, particularly when you have a reputation for being rough.

But if Pepper Martin of the St. Louis Cardinals turns up with a copy of Swinburne or Shelley, or Wordsworth, we'll give up.

At least Primo Carnera has made no public attempt to take up tap dancing.

LOVE AND STYLES

As I remember, once she wore
A skirt that trailed upon the floor;
Went corseted about the place;
Thought bugging hips the mark of grace;
Scorned paint and powder for her face
And though such fashion bothered men,
In spite of them I loved her then.

Time was I vividly recall
The waistline grew, the hips went small.
Great plumes were flung around her hat,
And to support a thing like that
She pomped her hair upon a rat!
Although I thought it frightful dress
I'm sure I loved her none the less.

Then skirts went out of style, and she
In silken hose displayed her knee;
Bought curious gowns of fabrics fair,
Which only children used to wear,
And finally she bobbed her hair!
But spite of all the styles ordained
Her faithful lover I remained.

Now like a derby battered flat,
Comes the Empress Eugenie hat,
And since her hair she's letting grow,
Without the slightest doubt I know
She'll have one in a week or so.
And I shall think my life worth while
If love can weather such a style!

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Thursday, Oct. 11, 1906
Invitations to the wedding of Miss Jessie Rhodes to Leonard Hart, which was to take place Oct. 24 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Rhodes, had been issued.

Patrick Morarty left the previous night for Chicago where he was to attend the baseball games.

Walter H. Gmeiner, Wausau, was in Appleton to spend several days at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Gmeiner.

Miss Lynna Struck, who had been visiting friends in Milwaukee and Manitowish, returned to her home the previous evening.

Miss Anita Michelstetter returned the previous day from Seymour where she had been the guest of friends and relatives for two weeks.

W. F. Halladay spent the previous Tuesday at the home of E. A. Sherman, Stevens Point.

Mrs. E. Graham returned home the preceding day from Evanston where she had been visiting for several months.

James L. Dafter left the previous night for Chicago to resume his work at the Chicago Extension, after spending a few days with his parents in Appleton.

TEN YEARS AGO

First steps toward what might mean entire abolishment of the Appleton water commission, which had management of the municipal waterworks plant in charge, were taken today by the common council at its meeting the preceding evening.

At a meeting of the library board the previous Tuesday evening, the board authorized Miss Florence Day, librarian, to proceed with the arrangement of a children's library in the southeast room formerly used as a reading room.

Personal Health Talks

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

MEDICAL PROFESSION WILL INVESTIGATE SPECIALIST RACKET

The comedy of specialism in American medicine is now approaching the burlesque stage. The more intelligent portion of the population is getting "wise" to the specialist racket as this has been tolerated, if not actually sanctioned by the medical profession of America. At the last annual meeting of the American Medical Association in Philadelphia in June a resolution was passed that a Commission on Qualifications for Specialists, consisting of nine members, be appointed by the speaker of the house of delegates of the medical organization. This commission is to give consideration to the present status of specialism in medicine and define the various specialties which may be considered necessary for the best interests of the public and scientific medicine. The commission is to consider the questions of education, training and clinical experience a doctor should have if he is to limit his practice to a special field or be known to the public as a specialist.

Well, better late than never. From the way our all-around specialists, our brass specialists, have been growling and snarling back at my animadversions on the evil, one might fancy that the organized profession intended to maintain the good old policy of dignified silence about this scandal. Let us hope that the investigation of the newly established commission may at least remind a few of the quacks within the ranks that the "clonic," "instinctive" or "group" system of plucking the gullible public is doomed. After all the high pressure tricks of specialism have been worked on the wisecracking public, and all the fast talk about this being an age of specialism has brought in the smart ones, it begins to look as tho the honest family doctor were due to stage a come-back, at least for a lot of goofy folk who, in the din of self-adulation made by the brass specialists of the day, really imagined the family doctor was nearly extinct.

Pending the completion of the work of this commission, I advise all patrons to beware of the rabble of general practice, making twenty in all, to qualify a man to hold himself out as an eye specialist, oculist, ophthalmologist.

When once on shore they found that he was right, because the chance to see a funny looking tapir and it boldly walked up near. It stood and eyed the Tynmites as if they were queer looking sights. "I'll bet he wonders," Carpy said, "what we are doing here."

(The Tynmites see a cloth in the next story.)

The Tynmites
By Hal Cochran

THE cocoanuts were strange indeed. Said Clowney, "Ah, gee, all I need is one sharp knife and then I'll carve a cocoanut up fine. You think those you have seen are great. Get me a knife and then all wait. I'll bet the best one this man has won't be as nice as mine."

"My goodness, but you brag a lot," said Scouty. "And as like as not your work would be just terrible. I think we'll try you out. I have a fine Boy Scout knife, but where will you get the cocoanut?" Said Carpy, "We can buy one from the cocoanut man, no doubt."

Then, when the cocoanut was found the other Tynmites gathered 'round and Clowney started in to work. "I'll do this fast," said he. He carved away till it was done. The others started poking fun and Carpy said, "It doesn't look quite like a face to me."

And then the Travel Man broke in and said, "It seems that we have been in this town of Bahai long enough. Let's move along. I'll lead you to a great big ship and we will take another trip. The ride will be a bit rough 'cause the wind is blowing strong."

The Tynmites said, "We don't mind as long as we go where we'll find some new sights." So they all set sail and soon arrived at port. Said Scouty, "It's Marajo Isle. Gee, we will stay here for a while. I've read of its strange animals. To see them will be sport."

When once on shore they found that he was right, because the chance to see a funny looking tapir and it boldly walked up near. It stood and eyed the Tynmites as if they were queer looking sights. "I'll bet he wonders," Carpy said, "what we are doing here."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Sleep and Weight
Can weight be lost by loss of sleep? How much sleep does the average adult require? (F. B.)

Answer—1. No. 2. Younger adults require nine hours, middle aged adults eight, elderly adults 6 or 7 hours.

Narcotic Depressant
My husband and I have an argument which you have agreed to ask you to settle. Is whiskey a stimulant or a depressant? (Mrs. W. K. R.)

Answer—Alcohol in any form is narcotic depressant.

Baby Has Bow Legs
Twenty months old baby has noticeably bowed legs. She has had Super D nearly every day of her life and is still getting it daily. She walked at 13 months. Can you advise anything to straighten her legs? (M. S.)

Answer—I don't know what Super D means. See that the baby gets plenty of sunshine on the naked skin. Get her a pushmobile or a bicycle or tricycle to encourage her to use her legs. Later (after 3 years of age) if the bowing remains uncorrected, see the doctor about braces or other orthopedic treatment.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY WILLIAM GAINES

New York—The late Harry Houdini, stage magician who made elephants disappear and who exposed "psychic" frauds, left his wife the key to most of his mysteries when he escaped these earthly shackles.

But there was a certain box which Mrs. Houdini was instructed never to open.

Curiosity is so innate in the makeup of most women that it can't exactly be called a failing of any one of them.

Mrs. Houdini opened the box. "Ha, ha, I knew you would," said the note Houdini had left on top of the contents.

There was another note, in which Houdini explained that the enclosed letters all were written by women who professed to love him, but that he cared for none of them. His love, he had written, was all for his wife.

Black Magic

Came the procession of friends to the Houdini threshold, with ready sympathy for the widow. But some women, who had been friends of the husband as well as the wife, learned that Mrs. Houdini could be seen only by appointment.

So these women, when they telephoned or wrote, would be asked in return to call at a certain specified time.

Naturally they did.

One by one Mrs. Houdini's maid met them at the door.

"Mrs. Houdini is not feeling well and can't see you," the maid would say. "But she asked me to give you this."

Then these particular callers, when they unwrapped the packets, would find the glowing love letters that had penned to Houdini the Great.

Job Hoarders

There is a sort of "janitor racket" here in New York which, if done away with, might afford jobs for many men. And, believe us thousands of apartment renters would cheer and cheer.

There are hundreds and hundreds of small apartment houses, many of them old residents of three or four stories, which have been converted—with one or two apartments on each floor.

A big muscle fellow gets a job as janitor at one of them. His pay is not immense, naturally, and soon he finds that he can "get by" on the job simply by appearing at the house two or three times a day to fire the furnace, look after the trash and what-not.

Well, he goes to the owners of neighboring apartment houses and proposes that he, for a much smaller sum than a supposedly full-time man would get, will give enough service at their houses to prevent any very serious kicks by the occupants.

The consequence is that there are janitors here looking after as many as six houses.

I personally know one man who has his own apartment house now—and still is "janitor" for three or four others.

And this probably is why you can't find your janitor when you want him.

California, it is reported, may build a dirigible larger than the Akron. Probably a piece of subtle propaganda to call attention to the wonderful California air.

Come to Schmidt's and bring your wife along

Your little wife may be looking thru' her hat these days . . . but she isn't talking thru' it.

You won't catch her choosing from 1930 fashions or paying 1929 figures and there isn't a buyer, butcher, baker or candle stick maker in Appleton who doesn't well know it.

She knows what's new and what's thru' . . . she's a shark on vogue . . . a wizard on worth and she knows more about what will look well on you than any man living.

Your wife can help you at Schmidt's . . . not that you need it. The point is that this is one store that isn't afraid to see a man walk in with his wife for

LARGE DELEGATION OF BADGERS ATTENDS
CATHOLIC MEETING

Convention at Washington,
D. C., Ends Wednesday
Night

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington—Wisconsin was represented by a large delegation at the eleventh annual convention of the National Council of Catholic Women which opened in Washington Sunday, Oct. 4, and ends tonight with a banquet at which the names of the new officers will be announced.
Early during the session, a Wisconsin woman, Mrs. James Bach, of Milwaukee, was appointed to the nominations committee and Mrs. J. P. Connell of Fond du Lac was appointed to the elections committee, both of which will play an important part in the election of officers.
Another Wisconsin woman, Miss Katharine Williams of Milwaukee, was selected from among the approximately 500 delegates to serve as chairman of the credentials committee.
Wisconsin names also figure prominently on the convention program. Mrs. James Hugh Hackett of Milwaukee will be one of the speakers at the closing banquet Wednesday evening. Her subject will be "The Demands of Our Heritage."
Mrs. Frank Van Laanen of Green Bay was chosen to be one of the leaders in the discussion concerning the election of a board of directors, while Miss Katherine Williams of Milwaukee and Mrs. Peter Cadigan of Superior were asked to lead in the discussion concerning the just distribution of responsibility among officers, directors, and presidents of affiliated organization, working in connection with the National Council of Catholic Women.
"How can Diocesan committee best further the purpose for which they are created?" was another subject which came up for discussion at the opening sessions of the convention. Mrs. J. P. Connell of Fond du Lac was one of the leaders in this discussion.

Members of the Wisconsin delegation to the convention are:
Mrs. L. C. Fleury of the Madison Catholic Woman's club, Mrs. C. A. Regan, also of Madison, Mrs. Walter Burke of Kenosha Catholic Women's club, Mrs. Peter B. Cadigan of the Superior Diocesan Council and Miss Laura M. Arnolds, Mrs. James A. Bach, Miss Alice D. Dillon, Mrs. J. H. Hackett, Mrs. Henry J. Keyser, and Mrs. James O'Neal, all of Milwaukee.

TAX FEATURE OF
BOND ISSUES IS TECHNICAL ITEM

State, Municipal Bonds Entirely Exempt—Command High Prices

BY GEORGE T. HUGHES
Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press
New York—Among the technical provisions relating to interest payments on a bond one of the most important is the tax feature. State and municipal issues are entirely tax exempt and that is one reason for the high prices they command in the market. They are usually bought by individuals subject to heavy income taxes willing to take a small return because of this exemption privilege.
United States Government bonds have certain exemptions but corporation bonds as a rule are taxable. There are, however, some issues on which the corporate borrower pays 2 per cent of the tax. Observe, this is 2 per cent of the coupon rate, not 2 per cent of the principal. For instance if you hold a 5 per cent corporation bond on which the corporation pays 2 per cent you are entitled to deduct in the appropriate place on the income tax return 2 per cent of the $50 annual income, or $1.00 per $1,000 bond.
This is not a vital matter to a small investor, but it does count up when large holdings are involved and it is worth considering in any event. As far as the writer knows foreign government bonds never pay any part of the tax.
If income taxes are increased at the next session of Congress, either by raising the rate or by lowering the present exemptions, more attention than ever will be paid to this tax technicality. Dividends on stocks are exempt from all the normal tax, the recipients paying only the so-called surtax. This is on the theory that the corporation paying the dividend has already been taxed and to tax the disbursement to the shareholders would be equivalent to a double impost. The stockholders are owners of the corporations and when they have paid the tax once through the corporation they ought not to be required to pay a second time.

A bondholder's relation to the corporation is that of a creditor. He has not paid any tax through the corporation and therefore he may properly be taxed on his income therefrom. Even though the investor has no direct interest in the tax factor it may influence the market price of the bond. There is no rule by which one may know whether or not any specific bond is exempt to the extent of 2 per cent. One has to make inquiry separately in each case.
Nebraska tests have shown that whole barley is 80 per cent as efficient as corn as a ration for hogs.
Iowa truck gardeners are fighting the cabbage butterfly, the larvae of which eat the leaves of cabbages.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE
© 1929 by NEA Service, Inc.

WITH the knowledge that something unexpected waited for her at home, Sue stepped out of the pool into which she had fallen, shivered in the wet clothing, wondered if the dress was spoiled forever, wondered that she should care whether it was or not, and ran on.

There was safety for others, Sue thought. Security and comfort and firelight on friendly floors. Corinne and Harry were at home, contented and happy, whether storms raged outside or the night was quiet. Grace and Jimmy had each other, no matter what life brought. The sudden clanging of a fire engine made Sue wait by the curb. She realized that she ought to go in somewhere and stay until the storm was over. She was directly in front of the police station.

She wouldn't go in there, she reflected. She knew it too well already. She would keep on running. The rain was cold, but it felt good. Summer was ending. Ending in a triumph, flame-ridden moment.

Autumn was coming. Then there would be winter.

And she wondered what it would bring to her. She had a feeling that Jack was very close. Odd. He was miles and miles away. A thousand miles, and perhaps it might just as well be a thousand miles. But he seemed very close. She twisted the platinum band with its small, perfect stone, and pressed it into her flesh. It was strange how a material symbol could bring alive the belief in reality, when the dream was in danger of going.

"Oh, Jack, Jack, Jack!" She said it aloud and did not know that she did.

Down the street she could see the entrance of the rooming house. One more dash for the tree to tree and she would be there.

A tall figure waited within the door at the entrance to the house. As she started up the steps, it stepped out, and strong arms reached down and drew her to shelter. She was so weak, so tired that she let Dr. Barnes pull her to him, scarcely realizing what she was doing.

"The storm was—was dreadful," she said because she thought she must say something.

"Sue, Sue, where have you been?" There was no mistaking the tenderness, the solicitude in the young dentist's voice. "I've been watching for you. What happened?"

"Nothing," she said at all.

"She was aware of the encircling arms, and slipped out of them, gently, but firmly. "I was caught in the rain, that was all," she said, but she smiled at him as she said it. It was nice to know somebody had worried. She stepped inside the door.

She was dimly aware that behind her Dr. Barnes was speaking. "Listen, sweetheart, you've got to listen!"

She wondered if he realized the term of endearment had slipped out. Wondered even while her eyes roamed down the hall, and grew wistful as they met the gray eyes of another man who waited beyond, "Jack!" She caught her breath on the magic name.

herself—then have the decency and the generosity to give up the other love, and to make the best of what you have. You owe this act of honesty to both men.

Tell Parents Problem

V. E. E.: There's nothing to be done at the minute. If you're in the charge of your aunt, she has the last say on all important matters and you may run into serious trouble if you try a sneaky correspondence beyond her back. That sort of thing always gets found out. And then you're up against much sterner opposition than ever before.

You can, however appeal to your parents, and if I were you, I should Frankly your plan isn't going to be beneficial to any one of the three of you. You can't possibly shilly-shally in affairs of this sort. You can't do any waiting. You have to make decisions and make them fast.

In the first place if you're conscious that the man you love is waiting patiently for you, trying to see you whenever it is possible showing his love for you as plainly as he dares—you'll never give your husband or your marriage a fair chance. You'll always regard the present state of things as an unpleasant interval of waiting and longing for the right man.

You won't be fair to your husband during that interval. Unconsciously you'll be comparing him with the other fellow, growing more and more bored with his love as your yearning for some one else increases. And you're not being fair to the other man either. Is it right to ask him to wait for you, to give up all other chances of marriage to sacrifice these years of his life while you decide whether or not you will reward him by marrying him some day?

And you're not fair to yourself. Every year you make yourself more miserable—you cut yourself away from a chance of pleasant normal happiness with your husband—you plunge yourself into deeper uncertainty and distress about what is to be done concerning your great love affair.

If you have courage and wisdom you'll cut things off now. You'll make up your mind now. You can't take your time about the thing. If you love the other man enough to give up your husband, you should know it right this moment. Three years won't teach you anything but perhaps a cynical acceptance of things as they are.

In your heart of hearts you really want to remain with your husband but to have the other man's love as well—and that is the situation which many a woman desires without admitting the gold truth is

POWDER BASE IS NECESSARY FOR ALL SKIN TYPES

BY ALICIA HART

Almost all skins require a lotion or vanishing cream base under powder. If you use vanishing cream, be sure it is one which goes on smoothly and does not allow the powder to "cake."

The skin should be slightly damp before a lotion base is applied with, of course, a piece of cotton. Be sure your lotion matches the tone of your complexion. Don't select a heavy, thick lotion. If it becomes thick in the bottle, add a little skin tonic to it. Select one that won't dry your skin and one which will stay on all day without letting your face become shiny.

I think it's an excellent idea to keep your lotion, as well as your skin tonic, in the ice box. It gives you a refreshed feeling to apply a cool lotion.

If you have any kind of blemishes or skin defects, you should never use a scented lotion or powder base. There are a few medicated lotions which do two jobs: they serve as a powder base and help to clear the skin as well. Special little creams can be put over the blemishes which will completely hide them from view when the powder is applied.

Probably the secret of using a base lotion successfully is to apply it so thinly that it does the work of making your powder stay on but doesn't allow it to look or become caked. Be sure that you have thoroughly removed all your cleansing cream with tissues and a tonic before you attempt to use the powder base. It is impossible for either vanishing creams or any of the lotions to function properly if they are even slightly mixed with an oily substance.

Dry skins should use a base or lotion which has more oil in it than the vanishing creams. Use a cleansing cream, wipe it off, use a skin tonic generously, and while your skin is still slightly damp with the tonic, apply the powder lotion.

Oily skins should use a foundation lotion or a liquid powder base. Be sure that they contain no oil. Wash your face and neck with soap and water, apply a skin tonic and then the lotion or liquid powder.

The object in using a lotion as a base is to give the skin a satiny smoothness. But if you use cheap powder or the wrong shade, all your efforts will be wasted.

wait until they return home before making any direct appeal. You can explain the situation to them, introduce them to the boy and altogether be tactful enough to convince them that you have every right to go on with the present friendship.

They are much closer to you and your happiness is dear to them so you are ever so much more likely to have justice at their hands. Whereas if you try to wear down your aunt's opposition with constant disobedience, you'll have a black record already by the time mother and father arrive.

Therefore wait and occupy yourself with good deeds while you're waiting. If you're a nice sensible girl who knows on which side her bread is buttered.

How Sensible Folks Conquer Rheumatism

An inexpensive prescription that starts to drive uric acid poisons from body in 24 hours

Stopping the almost unbearable agony in joints and muscles with opiates or pain deadening drugs is easy — it's even worse than taking strong drink to drown your sorrow and bury your worries.

Allenrus, the prescription so much in demand by wise people, is safe, harmless and speedy — it absolutely conquers the pain and agony of rheumatism in 48 hours — it is positively guaranteed to do it.

It goes further—being a scientific formula, it drives from your joints, muscles and blood the uric acid deposits — it overcomes and removes from your entire body the cause of rheumatism.

People suffering from terrible attacks of rheumatism, sciatica, neuritis or lumbago that prevents them from doing their daily labor can be back at work again in 48 hours.

Allenrus guarantees this joyful result so why not get an $5 cent bottle from Schlitz Bros. Co., Volgt's Drug Store or any modern druggist with the distinct understanding that it must do just as this notice states or money back.

EROSION TO BE STUDIED ON EXPERIMENT FARM

Madison —(AP)— Under a cooperative arrangement between the University of Wisconsin experiment station and the U. S. Department of Agriculture, an experimental farm to study erosion will be established in La Crosse-co.

The farm will be located on a ridge four miles east of LaCrosse and will be operated by the bureau of chemistry of the university and the United States forest service. It will serve sections of Minnesota, Iowa and Wisconsin.

As part of the research a herd of dairy cows will be placed on the farm to consume the crops to be grown thereon. The topography is such that all water running off the farm can be measured in five gullies which drain the area.

"It is possible to lay out experimental plots having nearly all degrees of slope from virtually level to very steep," the Wisconsin college of agriculture said in announcing the plan. "At least two of the gullies draining the farm are actively cutting back into the soil and represent a challenge in terms of repairing the effects of destruction erosion."

Soil terraces and treeplanting are two avenues of approach to the erosion problem which will be tried. Rough land will be devoted to timber growing under the supervision of the Lake States Forest Experiment Station. The seriousness of soil erosion is emphasized by the fact that at least 400 years are required to build one inch of top soil. Erosion control is one of the most urgent economic problems confronting Wisconsin farmers, the college of agriculture's announcement said.

85 PER CENT OF ALL FIRES ARE HELD AVOIDABLE

Americans Most Careless People in World, Kiwanis Club Told

Eighty-five per cent of fires in the United States are avoidable, thus insuring Americans the most careless people in the world, Charles Hutchinson, Milwaukee, told the Kiwanis club at their weekly luncheon at Conway hotel Wednesday afternoon. The address was part of the club's program for Fire Prevention week, which is being observed throughout the country this week.

"The per capita cost of fire losses in the United States is $5 annually, while in Europe it is only 5 per cent of the total fire loss," Mr. Hutchinson said.

"The American consumer pays his part of the fire loss when he purchases merchandise from a retailer, whose fire insurance rates are high."

"It is apparent that easy fire insurance plans have done much to make Americans careless. When there is a fire, the persons who suffer the loss shrug their shoulders and say 'I'm thoroughly covered.'"

The speaker said that in France when there is a fire, the person who is to blame for a conflagration caused by carelessness must pay for both his own and his neighbors losses.

System in Germany
"The Germans have a unique system for curbing fires caused by carelessness," he said. "If a fire results from carelessness, the guilty party is obliged to pay for the cost of extinguishing the fire."

Mr. Hutchinson said it would be a good thing for the American people if the fire laws of Europe were put into effect for a time, and insurance companies would stop functioning for a certain period. He said it would probably show Americans the tremendous responsibilities which can be placed on an individual's shoulders when there is a big loss.

Outlining the causes for fires resulting from carelessness, the speaker said matches and smoking materials lead the field. Cigarettes and cigar stubs have caused thousands of fires, several of which turned into conflagrations, resulting in hundreds of deaths.

Effective chimneys and flues also cause many fires, he stated. The speaker urged club members to examine their smoke pipes to see if they are in condition to stand strenuous use during the approaching winter.

Only floor mops and rags, left in various corners of residences, are another cause for many fires. If housewives must use mops and oil rags, they should keep them in metal containers or away from other combustible materials, he advised.

The speaker traced the history of many great conflagrations in the United States, pointing out that most of them are caused by careless

Murderer's Death Asked After Health Is Restored

Savannah, Ga.—Before Governor Richard B. Russell, Jr., stands today one of the strangest and most perplexing problems of justice that a state ever put up to its chief executive.

Benjamin W. Davis sits in the shadow of the gallows. Ten years ago, in May, 1921, he killed Thomas E. White, or so a jury of his peers deliberately decided. But after the death sentence had been pronounced a commission of physicians decided Davis was mentally incompetent. So he was not killed by the state, but was sent to the state asylum for the insane at Milledgeville. The presumed object of his treatment there was to cure his mind.

After 10 long years, this has been done. So Davis himself insists, and so the authorities at the asylum now agree. But the law of Georgia says that a condemned man who escapes the death penalty because of insanity must face that penalty if and when he regains his sanity. The law is clear, unequivocal; it has no "ifs" or "buts."

All that is necessary is to have the prisoner brought before the court which originally sentenced him and he must be resented to die. It fell to Judge Peter W. Meldrum of the Superior Court of Chatham County, one of the most venerable and learned judges of the state courts of Georgia, to pronounce that sentence. It was the third time he had sentenced Davis to die.

Original Trial
The first time was at the end of the original trial. The second was on a denied appeal for a new trial. And the third was the present instance when Davis, his sanity legally regained, appeared on Sept. 26 before Judge Meldrum at the Chatham County jail and heard the words that meant death in a hangman's noose on October 30 unless Governor Russell intervenes.

After 10 years, the law demands its toll. And the justice of that toll is the decision that Governor Russell must make.

During those 10 years the scaffold itself has been abolished by the state of Georgia. The state now snuffs out in the electric chair the lives of those whom it calls unfit to live.

But 10 years ago when Davis was first convicted, the penalty was inflicted by the noose. And the law decrees that Davis, therefore, must be hanged, though the gallows cell, with its grim transducer, which adjoints that of Davis in the jail here, is dusty and dark with long disuse.

It is one of the strangest problems in justice ever to face the governor of any state. For the law permits no new trial, no appeal to a higher court, nothing but a plea to the pious on commission—which acts in Georgia as a pardon board—and finally an appeal to the governor. The pardon board can not commute Davis' sentence to life imprisonment nor grant him a pardon without the consent of the governor.

But the governor may of his own initiative act independently of the commission and free Davis, or grant him a respite that will continue him in custody until further action is taken.

Denies Remembrance

Davis has now changed his plea to one of non-remembrance. White was shot with a pistol concealed in Davis' coat pocket. Davis had gone to White's home and called him out on the porch. After a few short words of anger following White's refusal to close a real estate deal, the shot was fired. White lingered three days and died. Now Davis declares that everything that went on during that fatal day in the late spring of 1921 is to his mind a perfect blank. He declares he has no recollection of going to White's home, none of shooting him, and none of leaving the house hurriedly, jumping into a truck and rapidly driving away. But it was proved, and amply so by more than one witness that this is what he did.

Family Is Loyal

Davis is now a prisoner in the county jail at Savannah. He has a devoted wife who has stood by him courageously through all his troubles. He has a daughter, who since the shooting of White has grown up and married. He has a grandchild and a son-in-law he had never seen until he peered at them a few days ago from behind the netted grating of the Chatham county jail.

He was not allowed to touch or caress these loved ones. The rules of the jail are rigid. They say that prisoners can see and talk to—but not come in physical contact with their kin.

So Mrs. Davis, tearful and hopeful, and her daughter and son-in-law and the child who knows only in a general sort of way that "grandpa is in trouble," have only been allowed to get within speaking distance of the man who has decided to risk everything by declaring that he has recovered his reason.

Davis, when he was recently brought before Judge Meldrum to receive his third—and what is thought will be his final—death sentence, was outwardly calm but apparently inwardly deeply disturbed. After sentence had been pronounced and he had left the court room, those who had him in custody said he came nearer breaking down than at any time during the long period through which they have been associated with him.

Davis has come home broke, he says, and has no money with which to carry his fight to the Governor and the pardon commission. He has made a pathetic appeal in the newspapers to any friends of his brighter and more prosperous days who will do so to come to his assistance and help him engage legal aid.

The state of Georgia, through its laws, has spoken. The widow of the murdered White, long since remarried, has intimated that she expects the law to avenge the death of her husband. But the state's last word on justice in this strange case must come from the man who weighs its unparalleled complications in the governor's mansion in Atlanta.

AMERICAN TENOR ON ARTIST SERIES

Richard Crooks Booked for Concert at Memorial Chapel Oct. 29

Richard Crooks, tenor who will open the Community Artist series in this city on Oct. 29, is of American birth and ancestry.

His real career began in 1922 when Fitzhugh W. Haensel, head of the well known New York musical managerial firm of Haensel and Jones, discovered the youthful tenor, and was so impressed by his singing that he immediately signed a long term contract with the artist. Since that time Crooks has been exclusively under this one concert direction.

Mr. Haensel promptly arranged a special audition for the young singer with Walter Damrosch, who sustained his judgment by immediately engaging Crooks for the unprecedented number of nine performances.

As soloist with the New York symphony orchestra. These important appearances the tenor filled with such sensational success that at the end of his first professional season he had the record number of over 40 engagements to his credit.

The following season found Crooks firmly established in the public's regard, and in the summer of 1925 he continued his triumphant musical conquest by invading Europe and singing with outstanding success in London, Vienna, Munich and Berlin. Other numbers in this year's artist series, season tickets for which are now on sale at Belling drugstore, are the Don Cossack Russian Male chorus, Szegedi, violinist, Pauline Komer, dancer, and Ethel Bartlett and Rae Robertson, pianists.

DARK BROWN FELT HAT SEEN IN PARIS

It Has Turned Down, Narrow, Floppy Brim of Biege Felt, Making It Saucy

BY AILEEN LAMONT

Copyright 1931, By Cons. Press
New York.—(CPA)—In harmony with her present devotion to brown and beige, Paris has a little dark brown felt hat with a turndown, narrow, but floppy brim of beige felt. The brim hikes up over the left eye and hikes down so far over the right as completely to cover it, causing traffic jams but ooh, la, la, anyhow.

London has evolved a neat manner with the new sleeve. A French of figured silk she bestows pretty wide sleeves from shoulder to forearm, and then makes the rest of the sleeve rather narrow. The narrowness is expressly to accommodate the flaring gauntlet of the new glove.

The designers are already hugging out their spring and southern resort shoe models. Among the newest colors are taupe brown, for wear in town, and plating, which is French for platinum, a new shade of clear, light gray.

SCHEDULE CLINIC FOR STOCKBRIDGE INDIANS

Madison — (CP) — More than 300 Stockbridge Indians living near Gresham, Shawano co., will be beneficiaries at the third of a series of state federal Indian clinics which open Oct. 12. Dr. C. A. Haipel, state health officer, said today.

A staff of 12 health workers, including physicians, nurses and clerks, will establish headquarters at Shawano and will work for two or three days in giving the Indians physical examinations. The first clinic was held in Ashland and Bayfield counties in April, 1930, and the second in Forest county in August, 1930. Some 1,000 Indians were examined.

Catarrhal Deafness May Be Overcome

If you have catarrhal deafness or head noises go to Schmitz Bros. or your druggist and get 1 oz. of Parment (double strength) and add to it 1 pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has catarrhal deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

Our men are unemployed when we haven't enough customers. It costs us more to have them idle than it does to keep them busy. We must pay them if we keep them.

We might as well face the cold facts. Present conditions have curtailed the demand for furniture and we must sacrifice profits in order to create more sales if we are to keep the men who depend on us for their living.

Manufacturers of Furniture have felt the pinch the same as we have; with the result that we have been able to buy during the last few months High Grade Suites for the Living Room, Dining Room or Bedroom at prices we had not thought possible. Many of these same factories have liquidated their stocks and shut down completely rather than work at a loss, which assures us that prices are bound to be higher when they resume operations.

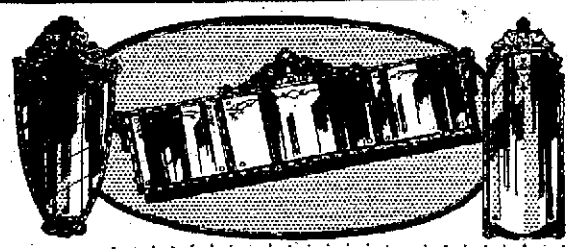

The American Home is the foundation of our democracy. You fathers and mothers owe it to yourselves and to your children to have well furnished comfortable homes. Homes where your children will be proud to bring their friends instead of going where you don't want them to.

CHICAGO TO SHOW NEW ATTACK WHEN IT MEETS WOLVES

Reb Russell Lost to North- western for Remainder of Season

CHICAGO —(P)— Coach Amos Alonzo Stagg's fourth University of Chicago football team is not rated as capable of defeating Michigan's powerful eleven when they renew their rivalry for the twentieth time Saturday, but the "old," is figuring on giving the Wolverines a surprisingly tough afternoon.

Stagg has just about enough men for one team with a few left over, and is teaching his tiny squad a new offense—a system far different from anything a Maroon eleven ever has used. What it accomplishes against Michigan depends largely upon whether Pat Page, Jr., and Lou Kanne, a pair of regular backs, are eligible. Page had a German examination to pass today, while Kanne is sick waiting to hear how he fared in a correspondence test.

Chicago's "mystery" offense, however, has done nothing to make the Wolverines less than a huge favorite. Coach Harry Kipke has a veteran line, well fixed for reserves, and his sophomore backs have done so well that lettermen will be sitting on the bench when the contest starts in Michigan's huge stadium.

Northwestern suffered a cruel jolt to its hopes of ending Notre Dame's reign, when Rob Russell, the fullback who battered the Irish line for important yardage last year, was declared out of action yesterday. Russell suffered a cracked vertebra and a rib fracture against Nebraska and probably will play no more this season. Coach Dick Renner moved Willie Olson, a sophomore, to full and his starting backfield when the Irish are met in Soldier Field Saturday, will include only one veteran, halfback Pug Renner. George, and Ken Meenan another pair of sophomores, will be the other starters.

Reports from Notre Dame's secret practices indicate that things are not so well with the Raiders. The reserves used Northwestern plays yesterday and showed over three touchdowns against the varsity. Coach Hunk Anderson was disgusted and said in so many words, that Notre Dame looked like a sure shot to take a beating.

"I can't see a victory Saturday," Anderson said. "The line is poor on defense and the backs are not blocking on offense. If they play that way against Northwestern Saturday we are going to get a real beating."

Illinois and Purdue, which will meet in the other Big Ten opener, are about ready. The Illini lost Bill Charlie, a good forward passer,

DID YOU KNOW THAT—
A young man at center on Harvard's B team was scrambling his opponents in no uncertain manner. . . . Coach Eddie Casey, new Casson boys, changed the line opposing B team's center. . . . The result was unchanged and the scrambling continued. . . . "What's your name?" Casey asked the B team center. . . . "Casey," the boy answered. . . . Immediately, stock in B team's center took a sharp upward trend. . . . Bill Parriott, West Virginia halfback, throws forward passes right and left-handed. . . . He kicks with his left foot and is the team's best punter. . . . There ought to be quite a bit of snap and dash in the N. Y. U. backfield this fall. . . . They have a fine sophomore halfback named Jerry Pepper.

FEW MATCHES PLAYED IN CITY TENNIS MEET

Rainy weather and the lateness in the season have slowed up play in the tennis tourney being held on Y. M. C. A. courts. In doubles, the Shannon-Hauch team has advanced to the finals with victories over Remley and Rosebush and Krueger and Murphy.

In singles Bob Shannon has advanced to the quarter finals with a victory over Leo Murphy. Dr. R. V. Landis hurried the first barrier with a win over Remley, 6-2, 6-0. He still has another match before entering the quarter finals.

LAY CORNERSTONE FOR CHICAGO FIELDHOUSE

Chicago —(P)— Coach A. A. Stagg tonight will see the beginning of the realization of an old dream at the cornerstone ceremony for the University of Chicago's $600,000 field house.

Stagg has been working for years to get a modern sports building to replace old Bartlett gymnasium. An old fashioned pep meeting and send-off for the Maroon football team which meets Michigan Saturday will be held in connection.

when he suffered a collarbone fracture yesterday, but the rest of the squad is in good shape. The Bollermakers held a scrimmage yesterday and the boys took it so seriously that Coach Noble Kiser had to break up a couple of fist fights.

Ohio still is seeking replacements for injured linemen by the time Vanderbilt is met at Columbus, and Wisconsin is busy working up some new forward pass stuff to fire at Alabama Poly.

Minnesota's board of strategy also is hunting for line replacements to use against Stanford Saturday. The Hoosiers are taking their workouts on the coast. Iowa's battered squad left last night for Dallas, Tex., to tackle Texas A. & M., but with small hope of using quarterback Randall Hickman, who suffered a sprained ankle in Tuesday's practice.

Wildcats, Irish Must Prove They Are Great Grid Teams

BY FRANCIS J. POWERS
Copyright 1931

CHICAGO —(CPA)— Northwestern and Notre Dame, who meet in the middle west's greatest football attraction at Soldier field Saturday, opened their 1931 campaigns with easy but not altogether convincing victories. That both are great is not to be questioned, but whether either or both are equal to their 1930 elevens is something that still must be proved.

Northwestern operated in November form during the first ten minutes of its game against Nebraska. Three purple touchdowns paraded across the Cornhuskers in almost effortless rapidity and then the Wildcats ran into an epidemic of fumbling and loose handling of the ball that lasted for the remainder of the game and cost at least three more touchdowns. The heat and big lead over Nebraska may have caused the Purple to slow down, but Dick Hanley has much work to do this week if the cats are to beat Notre Dame.

Lack of consistent pass receivers is the greatest shortcoming of Northwestern. In Pug Renner they have a passer equal to any in the country and two other capable throwers in George Potter and Oliver Olson. But the receivers are not sure handed, and many fine throws were lost in the Nebraska game. In that contest, Renner not only was the best passer and runner on the field but also the most clever receiver. Renner has learned to run with a knee-high action, and with such power that he is indeed a difficult target to tackle.

Northwestern's line performed strongly and intelligently. The showing of Milt Forberg, a 200-pound sophomore center, boomed the Purple hopes for his development will bode the weakest spot on the team. Waldin, the other center, is a fine workman, but too small for a long, rough campaign. Let Northwestern develop pass receivers of Frank Baker's calibre and it will travel far.

Irish Better Team?

Indiana did not give Notre Dame the test that was anticipated. That may mean the Irish were better than expected of that Indiana was overrated. Perhaps a bit of both describes the situation at Bloomington Saturday. Notre Dame showed a big, powerful and alert line that for defensive abilities seldom has been equalled. There are no weak spots from end to end, and it will take a strong running play to break the blue wall. Nordoff Hoffman has advanced rapidly as the running guard and Bert Metzger will be missed only a little.

However, Indiana, with many sophomores and a new coach, did not approach the Notre Dame game with much fire or vigor. Its defense was not commensurate with its physical strength and its attack has still to be turned into high speed. The Hoosiers showed a good fullback in Bob Jones and Lyons, the colored end, flashed

Calling the Strikes

Philadelphia —(P)— The National league has been on its prayer bones for some seasons that it might put more pepper into the world series. It has realized on its wishes. Now it is red hot with cayenne. Pepper Martin did it.

Martin wears a white pepper hat on the street and a white pepper cap, trimmed with a cayenne border, on the ball field. Sam Brendon who owns the St. Louis club blushes a pepper crimson every time that he modestly admits he picked Martin as a coming pepper hot when the young man played his first spring training game in Florida. Martin is surrounded by a lot of chaps today who insist that he is a reviver of business. They want to sniff some of the pepper. "I don't know why they make so much fuss about me," Pepper says. "I'm only a kid trying to do the best I can, and boy, I do love to play baseball. That kid doesn't need any salt," says Gabby Street. "Let him alone, browsing around in his own tobacco juice."

FIGHT BOARD WARNS MILWAUKEE BOXER

Milwaukee —(P)— The Wisconsin state boxing commission, through Ralph Wettstein, chairman, yesterday warned Dave Maier, Milwaukee, it would not tolerate the use of two pairs of gloves in training work.

The warning came as a result of the commission's investigation of a knockout blow Maier gave Angel Clivelle, middleweight title contender, during a training bout Monday. Maier admitted wearing gloves as

Sports Question Box

Q.—Did Al Simmons have a mis-play in the world series of 1930, that is, did he drop one fly ball?
A. His fielding percentage was 1.000.
Q.—Is Max Baer a better fighter than Charley Retzlaff?
A.—A matter of opinion. Baer has "knuckle protectors" under his boxing gloves.

fought better men, recently winning over Vittorio Campolo. Retzlaff is the harder puncher but needs more experience.

COULD ELECTED TO COMMISSION FOR FIVE YEARS

New Water and Light Board Member Is Named at Clintonville

Special to Post-Crescent.
Clintonville — William L. Gould was elected to the Water and Light Commission for a term of five years by the city council at its monthly meeting Tuesday evening in the city hall. Mr. Gould was appointed last spring to fill the unexpired term of the late Levi C. Larson. The ordinance committee was instructed to draw up an ordinance to abolish the city fire and police commission. This commission consists of five members and has been established in this city for a number of years.

A petition was received from the Christus Lutheran Congregation requesting that the high power line be removed from Fifth-st. The city clerk was instructed to order the Wisconsin Power and Light Co. to move the line.

Ordinance No. 51, regarding the installation of gasoline stations in this city was read for the first time and will be voted on at a later meeting of the council.

Property owners on E. Seventh-st and on Bloch-st petitioned for additional street lights. This matter was referred to the water and light commission.

The question of purchasing a new tractor for use by the city was brought up for discussion. A committee composed of Mayor H. Kratzke, City Clerk J. Spearbraker and Alderman J. Leyrer was appointed to investigate the matter.

Reports of the city treasurer, street commissioner and milk inspector were read.

The Clintonville Canning Co. presented a petition asking the council to take up the question of their insurance rates. The city clerk was instructed to confer with the state insurance commission on this matter.

Chief of Police J. J. Monty, accompanied by Mrs. J. J. Monty, left Tuesday afternoon for Milwaukee, where the former will attend the annual convention of the Wisconsin Police Chiefs association Wednesday and Thursday.

The Rev. N. E. Sinniger pastor of the Congregational church and the Rev. L. G. Moland, pastor of Bethany church in this city attended the annual conference of Wisconsin Congregational churches Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at Green Bay. Others who attended sessions were Mesdames L. G. Moland, H. B. Dodge, James Bolster, Max Stieg, J. B. Clemons, Robert Hall, August Kowalsky and Miss Freda Stanger.

Mrs. Mary Billings was hostess to the Amity Division of the Dorcas society at her home on Waupaca-st. Tuesday afternoon.

Eastern Star Sewing club will meet Friday afternoon at the Masonic Hall. Hostesses will be Mrs. C. E. Gibson and Miss Amelia Metzner.

Wions club held a weekly meeting Tuesday evening at their club house on Long Lake. A dinner preceded the program. A talk on poultry was given by E. A. Hutchinson, teacher of agriculture in Clintonville high school.

Mrs. Virgil Wulfsberg entertained at a children's party Saturday afternoon in honor of the birthdays of her children Dorothea and Virgil.

Sixteen little folks were present and played games after which a lunch was served.

Miss Edna Mae Jones was hostess to a group of friends Monday evening at the home of her mother, Mrs. O. B. Jones, Sr. The guests were entertained with a musical program consisting of piano and violin selections.

Roy Metzler left Wednesday for Calumet, Mich., where he will spend the remainder of the week.

Albert Reinke this week purchased the new residence being completed on Annet-st by Louis Thompson and will move into it soon.

Carl Loberg entered St. Vincent hospital at Green Bay Tuesday, where he will submit to an operation on his leg, which was injured in an automobile accident last April.

WILLIAM ROBERTS DIES AT HOSPITAL
Funeral Probably Will Be Conducted Next Saturday Morning

New London — The death of William Roberts, 64, town of Liberty farmer, occurred Wednesday evening at a local hospital. He had been in failing health for the past year. The funeral probably will be held Saturday morning.

Mr. Roberts was born in the town of Maple Creek in 1867. He grew to manhood there and after his marriage to Miss Josephine LaDuque of Fond du Lac, the couple moved to Liberty township, where the family has resided since. His marriage took place about 44 years ago. Three daughters and three sons, beside the widow, survive. They are Mrs. Louise Thyer, Hollister; Mrs. Nellie Mack, Sheboygan; Mrs. Marie Fuller Gresham, William and Lawrence Roberts at home and David Roberts of this city. His brothers are David, Emory, Oliver, Joseph of Maple Creek; Abraham, Clifton, Saul of Deer Creek; and Isaac of New London. There are two sisters, Mrs. Jessie Bessett, Deer Creek and Mrs. Josephine Guyette, Shiocton.

SIREN SOUNDS OUT ON FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

(Special to Post-Crescent)
New London — The daily siren of the fire department is heard this week in observation of fire prevention week. Chief Dean of the department calls attention to the fact that autumn is here and that natural fire hazards, such as clogged chimneys and the accumulation of rubbish in attics and basements should be removed.

BREWER FUNERAL IN LIBERTY TOWN

Last Rites Conducted Tuesday Afternoon—Burial at Clintonville

Special to Post-Crescent.
New London — The funeral of George W. Brewer, 66, whose death occurred Saturday at the Wausau Memorial hospital following an illness of five weeks, was held at the home of his son, Elwood Brewer, in the town of Liberty Tuesday afternoon. The Rev. Ben Flopper, pastor of the Shawano Methodist church, was in charge. Burial was in Graceland cemetery at Clintonville.

He was born July 29, 1865, at East Burke, Vt., coming to Oshkosh at the age of 17. For a number of years he worked at Morris, Wis., where he became an engineer on the Chicago and Northwestern railroad. Soon after this he became a conductor on the lines of the same company and continued in that capacity for 32 years. His marriage to Miss Laura Case, Northport, took place Dec. 31, 1891. The couple lived here for a few years, moved to Kaukauna and returned here where they made their home until the death of Mrs. Brewer, Feb. 20, 1924. Survivors are one son, Elwood Brewer; and two foster daughters, Marian and Betty of Liberty. One sister, Charles Bell, East Burke, Vt., also survives.

There were six conductors of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad from Wausau Junction and Antigo. Relatives from away to attend the funeral included Mr. and Mrs. Warren Case, Mr. and Mrs. George Case, Leona; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Case, Clintonville; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bessey, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bessey, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kuester, Wausau; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Case, Matton; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Durkee, Spring Lake.

Lilacs Bloom For Second Time In Hilbert Garden

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Hilbert — Rains of the past week have brought on spring time memories to Dr. F. A. Holtz as he established a new record this week by picking spring flowers at this late season. The bouquet consisted of a bunch of lilacs which again sprouted out after the rain and warm weather.

Work has been received here that John Punzenberger, who formerly conducted a bakery shop at Hilbert before it burned down last January, is now operating the Home Bakery at Plymouth.

Mr. Punzenberger for the past several months has been employed at the Home Bakery, Hilbert. He has sold his 80 acre farm to Edwin Schreiner of St. John. The Bloy family will move from the place by Oct. 15, but its as yet indefinite where they will locate. Mr. Schreiner also bought personal property bringing the selling price of the farm to $14,000.

The Five Hundred club met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Arno Herman Bloy in the town of Woodville. High honors went to Leonard Suttner, and Mrs. George Wolff. Mrs. John Laffey will entertain next week.

MERCHANTS GET PREPARED FOR FALL OPENING

Trim Store Windows and Offer Special Bargains to Customers

Kaukauna—All Kaukauna merchants are decorating their display windows with the latest fall fashions for the fall opening this week-end. Several of the merchants already have decorated their windows, while others were to complete the trimming today. Special bargains for the fall opening will be offered. One merchant on Wisconsin-ave. has a display window showing a fall scene with a pair of squirrels sitting on a hollow tree stump cracking nuts.

On Friday evening a dance will be offered for the shoppers. Music will be furnished by a popular orchestra. Tickets will be passed out by the participating merchants. Motor car dealers will stage a procession of new cars.

On Saturday farmers will gather at the Dodge-st. fair grounds for their regular monthly pig-fair. A large number of buyers are expected to attend. During the evening concerts will be played by the high school band. The band will wear its new uniforms.

SOCIAL ITEMS

KAUKAUNA STUDENT HONORED AT U. W.

Peter S. Hanson Outstanding in College of Engineering

Kaukauna—Word has been received here from F. E. Turneure, dean of the college of mechanics and engineering at the University of Wisconsin, by Olin G. Dryer, principal of the high school, that Peter S. Hanson, a graduate of Kaukauna high school, has been awarded honors for his first two years of work at the university. Hanson was given the highest award obtainable for the number of credits received. He was awarded the Lang trophy at the high school during his senior year for being the best all-around student with an average of 90 per cent in all subjects.

A large number of Kaukauna youths are attending the university this year. Lawrence college of Appleton also has attracted a number of former Kaukauna high school students. There are about 10 students at Lawrence and seven at the state university.

Those attending Wisconsin are Sherman Schmidt, Robert Vaneevoven, Peter Hanson, James McFadden, Milton Schmidt, and Earl Gerhart. Schmidt, Martens, Lawrence has enrolled Foster Creviere, Carol Welfenbach, Alice Balgie, Alcemay Whittier, John Lemke, Josephine Berens, Robert Grogan, Roland Beyer, Mary Renn, and Winston Klein. Several students are planning to enter the schools at the beginning of the school semester to finish their courses. Notre Dame has also attended a student from the high school, Robert Driessen, who enrolled as a freshman. Marquette has another, Julie Huebner.

FINISH IMPROVEMENTS AT HIGHWAY CORNER

Kaukauna—Workmen are completing improvements at the corner of Highways 55 and 41 and County Trunk J. A shoulder on the inside corner is being constructed and a culvert is being placed. Pile Sufferers

You Can End Your Torment Quick
Do you know the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel?
That is the scientific truth about piles—the real reason why external remedies do not give quick, permanent relief, why cutting does not remove the cause.
Your itching, bleeding or protruding piles will only go when you actually remove the cause—and not one minute before. Salves or cutting can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. HEM-ROID, prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, the specialist, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts.
HEM-ROID has an almost unbelievable record for sure, safe and lasting relief to thousands of pile sufferers. Don't waste time on external remedies or think of an operation until you have tried a bottle of HEM-ROID tablets. Schmitz Bros. guarantees money back if they do not quickly stop all your pile misery. CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

by Ely Culbertson
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

BRILLIANT PLUS ACCURACY PAYS

Quite frequently in Contract a situation arises where only one unusual distribution of the cards will permit the making of the contract. In such cases an expert player discounts the factor of probability and hopes that Fate has been kind to him. The issue is distinctly up to the kindness of Fortune, although even Fortune should be aided in every possible way to bestow her favors where they are most needed.

The hand given below gave Sam Fry, Jr., one of the rising young players of New York, who promises soon to take his place in the expert ranks, an opportunity to play both brilliantly and accurately in the recent team-out contest for possession of the City of Asbury Park challenge trophy.

Both sides vulnerable. South—Dealer.

♠ K 4	♥ 10 9 4 8	♦ Q 3 2	♣ A 10 2
♠ Q 7 6 5	♥ J 7	♦ 8 7 6	♣ K 6 5 3
♠ 9 8	♥ A K 8 6 5	♦ A 9 4	♣ 9 4
♠ 10	♥ 2	♦ K J 10 5	♣ Q J 8 7

The Bidding:
(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
1♥	Pass	2♥(1)	Pass
4♥(2)	Pass	Pass	Pass

1.—In support of South's bid of one heart, North can count 4-4 playing-tricks. These include 2 tricks for the heart length and honors, 1 trick for the club Ace, 1/2 trick for the spade King and 1 trick for the shortness in the spade suit. There is, in addition, the uncounted value of the diamond Queen, which in the play proved the determining factor in the making of game.

2.—With North's strong support for the heart bid, South, who has 1/2 honor-trick more than 1/2 trump, and additional length in trumps bids for game—a justified risk.

In the play West opened his fourth best spade. East won with the Ace and shifted to the club Queen. Mr. Fry wisely permitted his opponents to hold the first club trick in order to prevent West from getting the lead. When East's Queen of clubs held the first trick, he continued that suit and the Ace of clubs in the North hand.

ARTICLE TELLS OF TREATMENT OF CHIPS

"The Effect of Air Treatment on Jack Pine Chips to Overcome Pitch Trouble," an article by Dr. Otto Kress, technical director of the Institute of Paper Chemistry, written in collaboration with E. R. Laughlin, a student at the institute, was published in the Paper Trade Journal of Aug. 20, 1931.

The problem for which this treatise proposes a remedy is that of coniferous woods, which contain so much pitch and resin that they cannot be used in either the ground wood or the sulphite process of paper making unless they are aged for six months. The reduction of the pitch is caused by oxidation, and the authors propose to speed up the aging process by forcing a draft of air over the wood chips. Experiments showed that vigorous air treatment decreased the seasoning process from several months to a few hours.

The possibility of adopting this process on a commercial scale is discussed, taking into consideration the advantages and the disadvantages.

CLASS REUNION PLANS NEARING COMPLETION

Plans for the reunion of the 1926 graduating class of Appleton high school of Dec. 26 are nearing completion, according to Harold Eads, general chairman. The reunion is to be held at Conway hotel. Miss Dorothy Smith is head of the promotion committee, and Miss Ione Steenis is handling publicity. Miss Florence Hitchler is head of the committee in charge of getting addresses of graduates. Robert Wolf and Miss Mary Kreis are preparing the program.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, laxative water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine. For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas beats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned. It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Never substitute. 25¢ at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

LIME WILL HELP ALFALFA GROWTH

County Agent Urges Use of Fertilizer Well Mixed With Soil

More and more it is being found that young alfalfa plants make the most progress where they have lime, well mixed in the soil, available for plant food from the very start, according to Gus Soli, county agent. This is particularly true where the soil is acid, which after all, points to the advantage of liming next year's alfalfa ground this fall.

Where alfalfa, next spring, is to be put in on this year's corn stubble, the lime or marl might well be hauled right now on the corn stubble if more convenient, then spread and double disced in order to thoroughly mix the lime with the upper four inches of soil. This discing-in makes possible hauling the lime now before plowing, even though it is generally recommended that lime be applied after the plowing has been done.

Several conditions this fall seem to favor liming next year's alfalfa now, also. Lime is not only cheaper in the fall, and easier to get onto the fields now than in the spring, but experience is showing that lime applied in the fall is more effective in sweetening the soil because it has a longer time to act upon the soil acids between now and seeding time next spring.

In choosing the lime materials to apply, C. J. Chapman of the College of Agriculture is suggesting that Wisconsin farmers use the local deposits of limestone or marl, or nearby supplies of paper mill sludge wherever available. Wisconsin, he states, has millions of tons of lime and marl underlying its farms and since lime is the master key that opens the door to success with alfalfa he believes it a good investment of time and labor to get it on this fall.

4 CITIES TO FURNISH NEWS ABOUT WEATHER

Madison—(AP)—Four Wisconsin cities on an air mail and passenger route between Chicago and Eauso, N. D., were placed on 24-hour weather observation service for pilots this week.

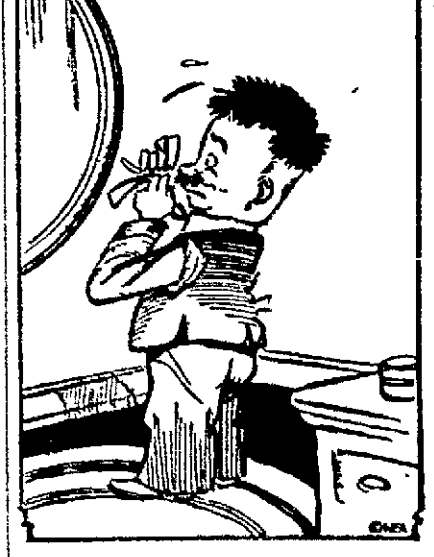

Three observers were added to the Madison weather bureau to aid Eric R. Miller, United States Meteorologist, in checking weather observations hourly. Milwaukee, Maunston and LaCrosse are the other cities in the state engaged in the service.

Weather observations are reported to the cities along the route by means of teletypewriters which have been installed on the various weather bureau offices.

"This service will greatly increase the amount of weather information available to air pilots," Mr. Miller said. "According to government statisticians, about half the accidents on the air mail lines are due to bad weather conditions. With this service in operation, such hazards will be reduced to a minimum."

Sez Hugh:

IT'S BAD ENOUGH TO TIE ONE BOW TIE, WITHOUT HAVING FOUR IN HAND!

UNHAPPY COINCIDENCE

Gary, Ind.—Five years ago Emil Kurth lost one eye when one of his tools slipped. Recently his brother, Fred, lost an eye in the same manner. As if that were not enough of a coincidence, both accidents happened within a few minutes of the same hour of the same day.

DAIRY CATTLE TEST TO BE ENDED SOON

Only 42 Reactors Found Among 49,298 Head in County

The retest of dairy herds in Outagamie-co for tuberculosis will be completed in a few weeks, according to word received by Gus Sell, county agent, from the state veterinarian's office in Madison. Dr. W. R. Winner, a state veterinarian, has been in charge of the work in the county since last July when it was started. He has been assisted by other veterinarians. This is the second retest of cattle in the county since the original test in 1927.

In the week ending Sept. 26 there were 328 herds with 6,305 head of cattle, inspected by the workers. Only six reactors were found. Up to the end of that week the inspectors have inspected 2,668 herds with 49,298 cattle and found only 42 reactors with 14 suspected reactors.

SAM BY FREEMAN LINCOLN

Chapter 21

CONFLICTING VERSIONS

THERE WAS A LONG PAUSE, and then Sam stirred uneasily. "It won't be easy," she said in a small, muffled voice. "And you're going to hate me when I'm done. What I have to say isn't very pleasant, Peak."

"Don't worry about that," he was curt. "I'm more prepared than you know. I can also assure you that nothing you can say will make me hate you."

She turned toward him. "Do you remember," she asked swiftly, "something that you asked me last night in the summer house?"

"I remember quite a lot of things I asked you last night in the Holcomb's summer house," he was playing idly with the gear shift lever.

"It was just at the end—just before we came home. Do you remember asking me if there was anybody else?"

"Yes," he nodded. "I shouldn't have said it. I'm sorry."

"Please don't!" She was close to tears. "There's nothing for you to be sorry about, Peak, because, you see there was somebody else."

"Oh," he was quite calm. "So that's what you wanted to tell me this afternoon. I rather guessed it at the time. I also rather guessed that I could supply his name. His name is Freddy Munson, isn't it, Sam?"

"Yes," her voice was barely audible. "His name is Freddy Munson."

"I see," Peak lit a cigarette. "Well," he said quietly at last, "let's hear about all that about it from the beginning."

"All right," Sam seemed calmer now, as though the hardest part of her confession had been made. "I'm not ashamed of the beginning of the thing. It began when there was no reason why it should not begin—something just before Christmas. He and I were sent out on some assignment from the office together, and afterward I brought him back here for supper." She drew a long breath. "Well, I liked him, and after that I saw him a lot. I don't know why I liked him. He was different from anybody I knew."

"Perhaps that explains it," Peak suggested.

"Perhaps it was that, and perhaps it was because he accepted me at my face value. He was interested in me as a person. I saw him almost every day. I didn't want to fall in love with him. I fought against it. I knew we could never be happy together. I knew all about everything, and yet—"

Peak actually laughed. "And yet, before you knew it, you were in your head."

"Yes," she agreed quietly, "that was it. I was in over my head. He asked me to marry him, and I said that I wouldn't. I was terribly sensible, and hard-belled, and practical about it all. I said that when I married it was going to be for money, that love had no part at all in my scheme of life."

"He didn't like that, I imagine."

"He merely ignored it altogether. He kept asking me to marry him until, finally, I didn't care any more. I agreed to go to New York with him that very night. I was to meet him at the train. I packed my bag. I was all ready to go, and then—"

"I think I know the sequel," said Peak gently. "You found Nelson's letter saying that he had eloped."

"Yes, I found that letter, and it did something terrible to me. I had a brain storm. You know what happened."

"Yes."

She turned to him swiftly. "Why don't you say what you're thinking?" she demanded fiercely. "Why don't you tell me what I am? Why don't you admit that you hate me and be done with it?"

"I can't," he shook his head. "I can't for the simple reason that I don't hate you. We're equally guilty. You didn't tell me about Freddy Munson, and I didn't tell you that I've known all about him almost from the beginning. We're even."

"You've known, and you've been willing to be engaged to me just the same!" Sam said dully.

"I thought perhaps you might learn to forget about Freddy Munson and come to care for me. I gambled on that. Silly, wasn't it?"

"I don't understand," she said.

"You will inter on when you get used to the idea," Peak told her. "In the meantime let's get on with the story. There's more to tell, isn't there?"

"There's a lot more to tell," said Sam vaguely.

"Then suppose you let me tell it," he nodded in the darkness. "I think I have the facts fairly well in hand."

Mystified, she peered at him, trying to see his face. "How can you have the facts?"

"Maybe I'm just a good guesser. At any rate, let me have a try."

"In the beginning," he said calmly, "you were so stunned by the things that had happened that you were practically numb. On one thing, however, you were determined. You were going to stick tightly to the course you had mapped out for yourself. You were going to marry me, and you were going to have nothing more to do with Freddy."

"That brings us up to the time when Fourth came into money. Fourth's windfall was a help. You didn't have to work any more and you didn't have to worry about bills. You were having a good time almost in spite of yourself, for the simple reason that you were not allowing yourself to think. Correct me, if I'm wrong."

Sam did not speak, so Peak nodded and continued with his story.

"We now come to the Holcomb's summer house on a windy moonlight night. Last night, to be exact. Something happened there that started you on a long dream that hadn't been altogether unpleasant. You kissed me, and that trivial event brought you to yourself. You began to realize where you had been drifting, and to wonder whether you were being altogether fair to yourself, to me, and to Freddy Munson. You decided that things were a mess and that something would have to be done about them."

"Yes," said Sam in wonder. "Go on, Peak. Tell me more."

He shrugged. "There isn't much more. Freddy Munson's coming to town was just the lucky break you needed. It gave you your chance to straighten things out. You had lunch with him today and you straightened things out. That's all."

"Is it?" Sam inquired wearily. "Are you going to tell me just that I did it?"

"It is necessary to go into all the grim details," you undoubtedly said that you had had a brainstorm and in the midst of it had made a terrible mistake. You indicated that you were quite sane again now, and you wanted to remedy the mistake. You asked if it was possible to remedy it?" He said, with appropriate gestures, that it was possible, that the curtain fell slowly to soft music."

Sam said nothing. She sat motionless.

"And now," Peak continued gently, "we are in the midst of the epilogue. You are telling me what has happened and are asking me not to think badly of you. I, in my turn, am saying that I understand. I understand that you have nothing to regret. Nothing more remains but for me to wish you all kinds of happiness, and to take myself quietly away."

"Oh, Peak, you're wonderful!" Sam turned and put her hand on his arm. "You're so beautifully, gorgeously sure of yourself!" Do you want me to tell you the true version of what happened this noon?"

"If you like. If it isn't too painful."

"It isn't painful at all. It's rather prosaic. Freddy and I had lunch. We discussed Fourth's invention. We talked about my new dresses and the parties I'd been going to lately. After that Freddy had to hurry away, because he was catching a train to New York."

"So that's the true version is it? You haven't omitted any little details, I suppose?"

"Not many." She shook her head. "I've given you practically a complete story of what happened. Don't you believe it, Peak?"

"No," said Peak with sudden explosiveness. "I don't believe it at all!"

How can Sam convince Peak of her honesty? He tries to find out, tomorrow, whether she loves him.

SHARE PRICES STILL STEADY ON STOCK MART

Swift Progress in Setting Up Credit Cooperation Is Big Factor

New York.—(P)—Eager buying sent stocks bounding upward in one of the most impressive advances of the year today. The advance began modestly, but gained momentum throughout the later hours of the session. Advances of 4 to 6 points were numerous while Auburn shot up more than 15. Issues up 4 to 6 included U. S. Steel, North American, American Telephone, Dupont, Woolworth, American Can, Santa Fe, New Haven, New York Central, and New York. Sales exceeded 2,800,000 shares.

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER, Associated Press Financial Editor, New York.—The market moved confidently forward in quiet trading today, and had an aspect of normalcy not seen in weeks. Swift progress in the setting up of the huge credit corporation to aid banks appeared already to have removed the chief source of unsettlement. Stocks moved steadily upward after a new advance in the morning, and the bond market again attracted good investment buying, although trading was quieter.

Virtually all important groups moved forward in the share market, and yesterday's moderate losses were more than regained, advances of about 3 to 6 points, and in some cases as high as American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, North American, Woolworth, American Can, Eastman, American Tobacco, "B", Union Pacific, New York Central, and Santa Fe. Gains of 2 or more appeared in U. S. Steel, General Electric, Southern Pacific, Pennsylvania, and others. The New York Times issues showed group strength, in response to rumors of progress toward unification.

Brokers reported that strong buying was steadily coming into stocks, although there was a tendency to place orders under the market, in the hope of catching temporary setbacks. The market was freely expected and the opinion that the bottom had been seen, although many were inclined to wait and see.

Commission houses with extensive wire systems reported that odd lot buying from the public was beginning to appear from offices throughout the country, and confidence in the market was being restored. Some said the odd lot business was the best in a long time.

The prospect of the setting up of another pool, in addition to the credit corporation, to aid building and real estate, received considerable attention, although bidders were not yet in a position to give information as to positive plans.

Business and trade news was meager. General Motors Corp., reported September sales of consumers of 51,740 cars, as reduced from 62,677 in August, but September sales of dealers were only 4,305 cars, indicating a shrinkage in dealer stocks. In preparation for new models to come toward the end of the year, with dealers stock low, and expectations that a considerable accumulation of deferred buying will finally be executed, the prospects of the early months of next year is viewed hopefully.

BONDS MOVE HIGHER IN SLACKENED TRADE

New York.—(P)—Bonds moved irregularly higher today but trading slackened. Activity both in foreign and domestic issues were concentrated among a few of the better known issues.

Railroad loans contributed a substantial proportion of the gains as occurred but they were smaller than yesterday, a generalization which applied to other issues also. Canadian Pacific debenture 4s, Chicago and Northwestern 4s of 1940, Delaware and Hudson 4s of 1940, Missouri Pacific 5s of 1935, St. Louis and San Francisco 4s of 1935, Pennsylvania 4s of 1935, and New York Central 4s of 1935 made varying gains. The irregularity of the upward trend appeared in recessions in Nickel Plate 4s of 1935, Erie 6s of 1935 and St. Paul 5s of 1935.

American Telephone 5s of 1960 and of 1965 were two active public utilities and eased off fractions. Trading in most of this group consisted of a few sales. Consolidated Gas of New York 5s, Detroit Edison 4s and Postal Telegraph 5s made good gains. Columbia Gas and Electric 5s of May 1952 lost about one point.

TRADERS SHOW NEW STRENGTH ON MART

Buyers of Bovine Stock Show Little Interest— Prices Steady

Chicago.—(P)—Aspirations of hog sellers and producers were brought another step nearer realization when they succeeded in following up yesterday's advance with a new burst of strength early today. And this, despite a run that was almost up to normal in volume here and fair receipts in the principal river markets. Packers received 4,000 hogs direct, and 5,000 state hogs were on the market.

Shippers led the initial buying movement, buying 240 to 300 lb. animals at 5.65 to 5.75, while selected strongweights topped at 5.80, highest figure in over two weeks. Heavy butchers and packing shops met with the best demand at prices largely a dime higher than Wednesday's average.

Buyers of bovine stock were only moderately interested in fresh receipts, most of which were made up of mediocre steers and a sprinkling of butcher stock from near-by scattered sections. Beef steers attracted outsiders and fully steady prices were quoted. Beef action was looked for in the calm market was held down to less than 1.50 head.

While offerings of 20,000 sheep and lambs fell 3.00 below the advance estimate, packers reported 6,713 lambs billed direct from outside points. Stronger prices were asked and early bids were only steady.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK
Chicago.—(P)—(U. S. D. A.)—Hogs 20,000; including 4,000 direct; active on best heavies; 100-150 higher; others steady to 100 higher; some 10-15 up; top 100 lbs. 5.60@5.75; top 100 lbs. 100 lbs. 4.85@5.00; pigs 4.00@4.50; packing sows 4.60@5.40.

Light live good and choice 160-180 lbs. 4.75@5.25; light weight 160-200 lbs. 5.00@5.65; medium weight 200-250 lbs. 5.50@5.80; heavy weight 250-300 lbs. 5.35@5.80; packing sows 4.50@5.50; slaughter pigs 4.00@4.50; 100-120 lbs. 4.00@4.75.

Cattle 6,000; calves 1,700; slightly better market than last yesterday on good to choice steers and yearlings; no strictly choice kinds here; best medium weights 10.25; yearlings 9.75; common and medium grade steers slow, steady; but low cutters beginning to appear from offices throughout the country, and confidence in the market was being restored. Some said the odd lot business was the best in a long time.

CORN, WHEAT PRICES RISE ON GRAIN MART

Advances Followed by Aug- mented Buying Power in Cereals

By JOHN P. BOUGHAN, Associated Press Market Editor, Chicago.—(P)—Augmented buying power followed price advances in grains today, and with an absence of selling pressure quotations rose abruptly. Prospects of decided falling-off in the volume of Russian wheat exports had a bullish effect. Besides, indications pointed to a third crop of Russian wheat crop would be 15,000,000 bushels short of recent official estimates.

Sharp curtailment of Russian wheat exports attracted particular notice, and elicited comment that wheat last year for shipment abroad, London advices said this year only 3,000,000 bushels against 1,250,000 a week ago and 1,114,000 at this time last year. Reports said that the volume of wheat being fed to livestock. On the other hand, corn arrivals in Chicago exhibited a surprising increase, today's receipts aggregating 331 cars, against 200 on the corresponding day last week and 87 a year ago. Corn prices weakened on this showing. Cattle relatively firm. Provisions reflected upturn in hogs.

MORATORIUM MAY BE EXTENDED TO TWO OR FOUR YEARS

International Bankers See
Present Holiday as Only
Temporary Relief

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington — The eventual fate of war debts and reparations is anybody's guess, but extension of the one year moratorium has come to be regarded here as a probability.

The pressure being brought on President Hoover to call for a prolongation of the debt holiday by from two to four years is the sort of pressure used to bring about the moratorium in the first place. The same arguments are being used and they are likely to prove as irresistible as they did before.

Hoover refuses to declare himself on such an extension now, but nothing comes out of the White House tending to show that he really expects payments of debts and reparations to be resumed next year after his 12 months of grace. The reasons for postponing such a declaration until well into 1932 are, at least from his point of view, more cogent than those of the international bankers who hold that continuing abnormal conditions make it advisable that the world be told at once of this prospective respite.

It certainly would not be expedient even to admit such a possibility in advance of the convening of Congress in December or of the arms conference in February. The country as a whole is concededly opposed to debt cancellation and in a campaign year the proposal for moratorium extension is sure to be pounced upon by many members of Congress as the first step in a program inevitably leading to cancellation. From an international standpoint, Hoover is handing Europe a nice present when he grants a temporary remission of debts. It is axiomatic in international politics that you don't give away something for nothing unless compelled. Hoover therefore must get whatever he can from Europe in return for an extension of the debt holiday. If this country is to influence the disarmament conference importantly, as the administration hopes, it can well use such a fine trading point as the extension. For some time it has been widely believed here that the president would undertake at Geneva to link the American debt attitude with the question of European armaments and lately unofficial word from the White House has indicated that Hoover would propose no extension until Europe had put its political house in order, especially with reference to the Franco-German row which threatens to go on forever.

The problem is ticklish and Hoover will weigh any future step with extreme care, as is always his course in contemplating any important move. His method of approaching the debt situation will be triply designed to collect all that can safely be salvaged from the debt funding agreements, to create the best possible political effect at home and to prevent any economic disaster in Europe which would retard general recovery or deepen the existing depression.

Just a brief space back the moratorium was being hailed as a stroke which saved the world and which made the Hoover chances of re-election better than even. But the world is calm again and still in poor economic shape. Bankers and others recognize the moratoriums as only a temporary palliative which must be stretched out if it is to do any permanent good. The crisis in Great Britain has become more acute and the Wiggins committee of bankers has advised that German reparations must be scaled down if not forgiven entirely.

The moratorium was regarded as a breathing spell after which Germany would be able to resume reparations payments to the Allies and the Allies would be able to resume debt payments. If there had been no moratorium, it was explained, Germany would have gone to pot and perhaps the rest of Europe as well, leaving this country worse off than ever. Now the same spectre, temporarily averted, again is dangled before Hoover's eyes, for there is no bright prospect that Europe will be any better off at the end of the "Hoover Year." The president's turn from that spectre without confronting a wild-eyed Congress, an election year and the realization that the longer the moratorium is extended the more it will seem to presage ultimate complete cancellation.

CHARACTER ACTORS TO APPEAR AT HIGH SCHOOL

Judge Charles Edward Bull, known as the living double of Abraham Lincoln, and Louise Feesser, movie double of Mary Todd Lincoln, will appear in person in the play, "The Heart of Lincoln," Friday morning before the student body of Appleton high school on a special school lyceum program. Members of the G. A. R. and others will be guests of Appleton high school at the performance.

Both impersonators have played the roles of Lincoln and Mary Todd Lincoln in several movies. Judge Bull, whose build and appearance are strikingly like those of the great statesman, played the part of Lincoln in "The Iron Horse" and "The Heart of Maryland." He will tell some unusual Lincoln stories after the performance.

"The Heart of Lincoln" is an original play that faithfully portrays the home life of the Lincolns, stressing the drollness and sadness of the statesman and the impulsiveness of Mary Todd Lincoln.
